King Announces National Health Insurance Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister King announced this afternoon in the Commons the government will bring down the first part of its long-awaited national health insurance plan at this session of Parliament.

He said the program will mean the expenditure of $30,000,000 a year of public money over the next five years.

To cover these grants, Parliament will be asked to vote $13,000,000 a year for the next five years.

Chief preliminary steps will be the awarding of grants to cover:

1. A health survey.
2. Strengthening of general public health services.
3. Tuberculosis control.
4. Mental health care.
5. Venereal disease control.
6. Treatment of crippled children.
7. Professional training of public health personnel.
8. Public health research.
9. Control of cancer.
10. Hospital construction.

EARLY APPROPRIATION

Premier King told the chamber in a 3,000-word statement that Parliament will be asked at this session to make the necessary financial provision for the program.

He announced also that Health Minister Martin plans to arrange an early meeting with the appropriate technical officers of the various provincial departments of health and the Dominion Council of Health.

This meeting would work out the detailed arrangements of the proposed health grants, and, in particular, the conditions to be attached to their administration.

Detailing the specific proposals, Mr. King said the federal government proposed to make available immediately to all the provinces a non-recurring health survey grant of $625,000.

It will be divided as follows: A flat grant of $5,000 to each province; the balance to be divided between the provinces on the basis of population, with the proviso that in no case shall the provincial grant be less than $15,000.

MACHINERY NEEDED

This money is to help the provinces set up machinery to ensure most effective use of other health grants now being proposed and to plan the extension of hospital accommodation and the proper organization of hospital and medical care insurance.

The government also will grant the provinces 35 cents per capita to strengthen general public health services "where provincial authorities themselves most keenly recognize the need."

In succeeding years, this grant will increase by five cents per capita until it reaches a peak of 50 cents.

To help eradicate tuberculosis, Parliament will be asked to make available to the provinces an annual grant beginning at $3,000,000 and rising over a period of years to $4,000,000 annually.

A similar grant will be proposed for mental health care, amounting initially to $4,000,000 a year and rising over a period of years to a maximum of $7,000,000 a year.

He also told police he had been working in a lumber camp, but left because "people were swearing all the time." Another reason for disliking the summer residents of Val Morin was that "women were seen on the streets in shorts."

Memrod, released from a mental institution less than two months ago, was captured early today when he came out of the woods and was walking near railway tracks.

He has been charged with arson and will appear in magistrate's court at St. Jerome Monday.

CARRIED MATCHES

Capt. Quenneville said Menard, when captured, was bent on setting more fires and had confessed to this also. He was carrying 675 matches when caught.

Nine of the summer homes and cottages some 60 miles north of Montreal were destroyed. Others were partly damaged or practically undamaged because the fires, found in mattresses and sofas, were snuffed out by firemen.

Police said Menard, a 25-year-old native of the district, had also confessed to setting fire last January to two cottages and a small Jewish synagogue in the Val Morin area.

Discusses New Look In Stalemate

Secretary of State George Marshall submits to questioning by reporters at Washington during one of the latest news conferences in his career as secretary. First reading a carefully prepared statement, Marshall rejected all suggestions that the U.S. and the Soviet Union enter into negotiations on major international problems affecting other countries.

Troops Called Out To Stop Packinghouse Strike Riots

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Minnesota National Guard was being called out today for duty at strikebound packing plants in Newport and South St. Paul, scenes of strike violence.

MIDNIGHT OUTBREAK

NEWPORT, Minn. (AP)—A mob estimated at 200 men forced its way into the strikebound Cudahy & Company packing plant at midnight, heavily damaged the interior, set free several thousand dollars' worth of hogs and carried away 30 plant workers as hostages.

R. J. Swenson, general manager of the plant, gave this account of the incident: "About 11:15 p.m. an estimated 200 men—some of them Cudahy workers on strike—entered the plant.

"First the main power switch was pulled, plunging the plant into darkness. Then a room where some of our men were sleeping was entered. Cots on which they rested were broken up and some windows smashed. "Locks on some of the stock pens were broken and 110 hogs, valued at about $6,000, were set free.

"The plant boilers were turned off, but apparently there was no serious damage done to them.

DOZEN TURN UP

"Then about 30 of the 50 to 60 men who were on duty in the plant were herded into cars and taken away. (At 6 a.m. Swenson said all 11 or 12 of the missing men had been accounted for.)

"These men were apparently taken out 'into the hills.' A number of men were hurt in the plant. Two of them are hospitalized and several have been treated for cuts and bruises.

Swenson said he would ask Governor Luther W. Youngdahl to call out the National Guard as "this has exceeded the stage at which we can work through court orders."

The Cudahy plant is across the Mississippi River from South St. Paul, where disorders broke out Thursday along massed picket lines in front of the Swift Company packing plant. The United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.) have been on strike at Cudahy, Swift and Armour packing plants since March 16 in a wage dispute. The men seek a 29-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Union spokesmen at South St. Paul disclaimed any knowledge of the Newport incident.

The district office of the United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.), which called the strike over wages, issued the following statement shortly afterward: "The C.I.O. Packinghouse Workers are fighting for their jobs and for their families with the only means available. There is no need for the National Guard. The union neither desires nor will institute violence on the picket line, but we will not stand idly by and see our strike smashed, our union wrecked and our working conditions set back a 100 years."

The troops are being moved largely by air, he said, while supplies are being sent by rail to Dawson Creek, B.C., and thence to Fairbanks, over the Alaska Highway.

U.S. army establishments at Fort Nelson, B.C., and Edmonton, key stops on the Northwest Air Staging Route to Alaska, have been enlarged since the first of the year, he said.

American troops and officers in the north "seem convinced they are headed for combat service."

Final resolution to come before the opening session endorsed a plan of the Trans-Canada Highway System—Association to have a Canadian Highway Commission established.

Britain's High Commissioner Quits Holy Land

HAIFA (AP)—Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, British High Commissioner, stepped off Palestine soil at 10:05 a.m. today, preparing for the end of the British mandate at midnight.

Wearing the uniform of a British army general, he walked down a few steps of dock into a launch which took him to the cruiser Euryalus. He is to sail aboard the cruiser the moment the mandate runs out.

Upon getting into the launch, he turned and looked soberly up across the docks. There stood an honor guard of the King's Company of Grenadier Guards and Royal Marine Commandos.

The launch pulled away amid the slap of hands on rifle butts. Puffs of smoke and the small, hollow explosions of a 17-gun salute drifted in to shore from the cruiser outside a breakwater.

A flight of Spitfires winged over the Euryalus as he boarded her. They will return at sundown.

The cruiser will remain in Palestine waters, the Haifa roadstead, until the midnight hour of sailing.

Preceding Sir Alan into Haifa was Lt.-Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commanding British forces now withdrawing from Palestine.

Vancouver Police Claim White Slave Story Exaggerated

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 26-year-old truck driver and two young girls are in custody and two other men are being sought by police probing a series of juvenile delinquency cases involving at least eight girls "nearly all 17 years old."

Police said the man in custody, Andrew Dutka, had been charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency and that two girls were being held as material witnesses. Police added that warrants for the arrest of two other men had been sworn out and that six others might be arrested.

Detective Sergeant David MacGregor of the police morality squad, denying that a large-scale white slavery ring had been cracked, described the case as a "highly-exaggerated account of juvenile delinquency."

NO BIG RACKET

He said the girls weren't involved in any "organized racket" and that police didn't know of any "house" operating in the city. "This is actually a small affair—we come up against this sort of thing all the time," he added in disclosing that all the girls come from Vancouver homes.

Police said the ring operated in rooming houses in the east end of the city among Chinese residents.

In another phase of their anti-vice drive, police arrested Harold Hirst, 35-year-old photographer. He is charged with producing obscene photographs. Seized as evidence were 104 reels of movie film and 345 still photographs.

Morality squad police said the present anti-vice drive was the culmination of week-long investigations.

Church Condemns Lotteries In B.C.

Approval of the action of the City of Vancouver and Police Chief Walter C. Mulligan in upholding the law regarding lotteries, was given by delegates attending the British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada here today.

Delegates felt that respect for law was essential for the continuance of democratic freedom and if the laws were not respected they must be enforced without respect of persons.

"This has not been so in British Columbia, particularly in connection with lotteries and sweepstakes the law has been openly and continuously flouted, by church organizations, fraternal societies, and most conspicuous of all, by service clubs," commented Rev. Hugh MacLeod.

Margarine Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, announced today he will move at the opening of the next session of Parliament for a Senate committee investigation "into all questions on margarine."

Britain Stays Out

LONDON (CP)—Defence Minister A. V. Alexander today gave a "categorical assurance" that Britain has no intention of putting reinforcements into Palestine to prolong her stay there. He was winding up the final debate on Palestine in the House of Commons as Britain relinquished her Holy Land mandate.

Palestine Invaded

CAIRO (AP)—The newspaper Al Assas, the organ of Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha's party, said tonight two columns of regular Egyptian troops had crossed the border into Palestine.

Many units of Egypt's regular army have been reported massed in Sinai, on the southern frontier of Palestine, awaiting orders. Estimates of their numbers have ranged from 6,000 to 16,000.

Jewish Cabinet

TEL AVIV (AP)—David Ben-Gurion, first Premier of the new Jewish State of Israel in Palestine, today announced formation of his cabinet, which will act as provisional council, as follows: Foreign affairs, Moshe Shertok; treasury, Eliezer Kaplan; communications, David Remez; trade, industry and supplies, F. Bernstein; home affairs, I. Grunbaum; immigration, M. Shapiro; labor and public work, M. Bentov; agriculture, A. Zisling; police, B. Shitreet; justice, F. Rosenbluth; ministers without portfolio, Rabbis J. L. Fishman and I. M. Levin.

14 Arrested At Scene Of Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Twelve men and two women were arrested today as striking United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.) staged a demonstration at the Rogers Majestic plant in suburban Leaside.

George Harris, Canadian secretary of the J.E.W., was arrested as he addressed pickets over a portable public address system.

TEL AVIV (CP)—The State of Israel, first Hebrew nation in 2,000 years, was born today in a Jewish declaration of independence asserting the "historic right" of the Jews of Palestine to reconstitute their national home.

One of the first acts of its provisional government was to revoke the British white paper of 1939 limiting immigration to Palestine and legislation limiting land sales.

Two hours later the Hagana high command broadcast an appeal to the Jewish population to be ready for the possibility of invasion and air raids.

Hagana called for a partial blackout in Jewish cities as from tonight. It called also for trenches to be dug in rural settlements. Shelters and the prevention of crowding in streets, were asked.

The proclamation by the national council is effective at one minute after midnight, when Britain's 31-year rule of the Holy Land ends. The British High Commissioner already has left Palestine soil for a British cruiser, and the British mandate government has left the Holy City of Jerusalem.

While Jewish forces and soldiers of the surrounding Arab countries prepared for war, the Jews proclaimed their "right to a life of dignity, freedom and labor."

The declaration said this right was recognized by the United Nations.

The Arab League, meanwhile, planned to set up an administration—not a state—of their own in Palestine to function with occupying Arab forces if and when Palestine is invaded.

(In London the Arab office declared the termination of the British mandate had created a disastrous situation in the Holy Land, but "will at least give the Arabs the opportunity which they have never had until now of resisting the invaders face to face and without the intervention of a foreign power which has hitherto given them its protection.")

(The general secretariat of the Arab League has proclaimed a state of war existing with Palestine Jewry.)

As the Jewish state was born, the Arabs wrested their first real victory in Palestine. Arabs, neutrals and Jewish sources confirmed that Arab legionnaires, supported by 2,000 tribesmen from the Hebron Hills, wiped out four Jewish colonies in the Kfar Etzion bloc south of Jerusalem, thwarting the Arab invasion route from the south.

The informants said 200 Jews died in the battle, which ended Thursday night. A number of prisoners were taken, including four physicians who had parachuted Thursday to aid the wounded.

The Jewish Agency, declaring the Arabs had killed prisoners of war despite promises of adherence to international law, had urged the United Nations' Truce Commission Thursday night to intervene in the battle.

The battle for the Bab el Wad gorge, lifeline Jewish link between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, raged unabated.

The Jewish Provisional Government's "declaration of independence of the Jewish state" issued in the city of Tel Aviv, declared:

"We members of the National Council representing the Jewish people in Palestine and the Zionist Movement of the world, met together in solemn assembly on the day of the termination of the British mandate for Palestine, and by virtue of natural and historic right of the Jewish people, and by resolution of the General Assembly of the United Nations, hereby proclaim the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine to be called 'Israel'."

The proclamation was broadcast over the newly-opened Jewish broadcasting station "Voice of Israel," and was made eight hours before the mandate officially terminated because Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath.

The proclamation added: "As from the termination of the mandate at midnight tonight, and until the setting up of duly-elected bodies in accordance with the constitution to be drawn up by the Constituent Assembly not later than the first of October, 1948, the present National Council shall act as the provisional government of the state of Israel."

But Hagana said Thursday night Syrian armored forces already had begun an attack on Dan, about a mile inside Palestine, northernmost limit of the Holy Land of Bible days.

(And in Damascus, Syria, the Arab League proclaimed that a state of war exists between the Arab states and Palestine Jewry.)

Say Buses Delayed By Trespassing Cars

Bus drivers are complaining that private motorists are slowing down the public transportation service by parking their autos in downtown loading zones, particularly those on Douglas Street.

Mayor Percy George received in the mail today a request from the Capital Division No. 100 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, that the condition be corrected.

The letter, signed by W. Turner, recording secretary, states considerable time is lost by private cars filling up areas set aside as bus stops.

U.N. Mediator To Go To Holy Land

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—The political committee of the special Palestine assembly voted today to send a United Nations mediator to the Holy Land. The vote was 37 to 0, with 15 abstentions.

The proposal for a peace mission, sponsored by the United States and France, now goes to a plenary meeting of the 58 member countries for final action.

A top Jewish representative here said today the newly-proclaimed Jewish state of Israel will make itself secure regardless of what the United Nations does.

Bill Before U.S. Congress To Hobble Communist Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives aimed a legislative shotgun at the Communist Party today and got set to pull the trigger.

It probably won't fire until next week, when it expects to pass a bill making it a crime to try to set up a Communist dictatorship in the United States.

The bill doesn't outlaw the Communist Party, but it would crimp the party's operations and expose its members and activities.

The measure came before the House for debate today with:

1. A plea from Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (Rep. N.J.) to take firm action to cope with "the foremost menace to democracy today."
2. A retort from Rep. Leo Isaacson (American Labor-New York)

that the bill repudiates the concept of progress and "regards America as a finished product, rigid and unchangeable."

Isaacson is one of the newest members of Congress. He was elected from the Bronx earlier this year with the support of Henry Wallace, third-party presidential candidate.

Thomas is chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The bill is the first legislative proposal ever drafted by that committee.

In its preamble, it asserts that an international Communist movement in conspiring to set up totalitarian dictatorships through organizations it controls in other countries.

PRISON TERMS, FINES

The bill defines the American Communist Party as one of these organizations. It says it shall be illegal to try in any way to set up a foreign-controlled "totalitarian dictatorship" in the United States or to take part in a movement to create such a dictatorship.

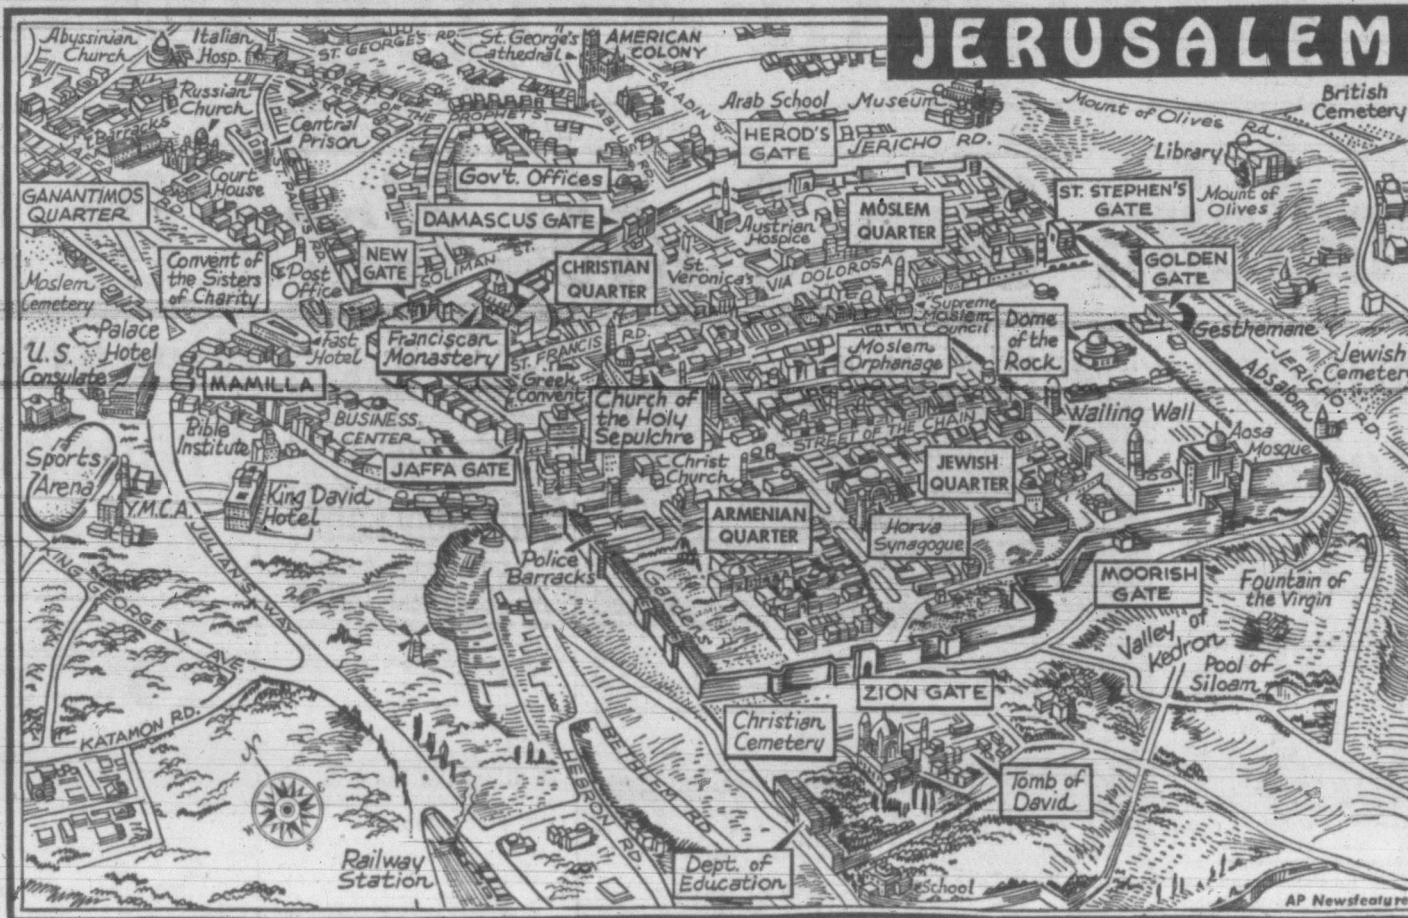

Violators would face 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine and would lose their United States citizenship.

Another provision requires the Communist Party to register annually with the Justice Department and furnish a list of all its members. Failure to register, or false registration, would be punishable by from two to five years in prison and a fine of $2,000 to $5,000.

Burrards Score Lacrosse Victory

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — Vancouver Burrards last night came from behind in the dying minutes of play and forced a 12 to 11 victory over New Westminster Salmonbellies for their second straight win in the Inter-city Lacrosse League.

The Dominion champion Adanacs make their first appearance in Vancouver tonight when they meet the Indians. If they win, they move into a first-place tie with Burrards. If they lose, they'll share the second-place berth with the Tribe.

The eyes of the world were on Palestine today. During the afternoon the birth of the Jewish State of Israel was proclaimed by the Jewish National Council, sitting in the city of Tel Aviv.

This was done as the hour of Britain's termination of her League of Nations mandate over the Holy Land drew near, that act having been set for midnight tonight, Palestine time.

Even as these things occurred international agencies, such as the United Nations and the Red Cross, still were seeking some way to protect ancient Jerusalem from the ravages of Palestine's warfare between Arabs and Jews.

Recently the U.N. Trusteeship Council approved the naming of a municipal caretaker to super- vise the city after May 15. Earlier, British commanders had imposed their own "truce" over the walled city of old Jerusalem, at least temporarily saving it from becoming a battleground.

ANCIENT LINKS

No one place is more closely linked to three great world religions—Christian, Mohammedan and Hebrew. Inside the mile-square ancient settlement are such antiquities as the Jewish Walling Wall, which some believe to be a remnant of the Temple built by King Solomon; also the graceful Mosque of Omar, one of the three most sacred spots in the Moslem world. There also is the Church of the Holy Sepulchre on the presumed site of the tomb of Jesus.

Safeguarding these shrines has become an objective of concern to large sections of the world's people. But Jerusalem itself is a much greater entity than the old walled area.

The outer city, developed since 1858, spreads in all directions across the hills and valleys of the Biblical Canaan. The British made it the capital of mandated Palestine, and now Jews constitute about 100,000 of its 160,000 population. Modern office buildings and apartment houses on broad avenues completely surround the narrow alleys of the old section. The King David Hotel, before being bombed by terrorists, was famous for its air-conditioned luxury. On the slope of nearby Mt. Scopus stands the Hebrew University, opened in 1925. An imposing medical centre was established in 1939; about the same time that a 40-mile pipeline commenced to bring water from mountain springs to the arid capital.

Midway between the Dead Sea and the Mediterranean, Jerusalem has been called a meeting place of east and west. Yet location does not account for the importance of the centre which 33 centuries ago was named Uru Salim, "City of Peace."

GREAT CHANGES

About 1400 B.C. the city was a vassal of Egypt, and there still exist tablets sent to the Pharaohs from Jerusalem asking for aid against an expected attack. In 1048 B.C. the Hebrew leader David captured the citadel. His son Solomon put up a temple of the Israelites. Succeeding waves of conquerors included Macedonians, Romans, Persians and various Moslem tribes. In 1099 Christian crusaders from Europe brought devastation to Jerusalem and it remained a Latin capital until the 12th century, when the Mohammedans regained control. The British ousted the Turks in 1917, and London's mandate over all Palestine was established soon after World War I.

In the original United Nations partition plan, voted last November, Jerusalem and nearby Bethlehem were designated as an international zone, included in neither the proposed Jewish nor Arab state.

At Least 20, Perhaps 55 Killed In Plane Crashes Around World

By Associated Press

Six plane mishaps on four continents have claimed the lives of at least 20 and perhaps 55 persons.

Best known among the dead was Lady Harrington, the daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy of Boston, former U.S. Ambassador to Britain. She died near Privas in southern France with three others, including Lord Fitzwilliam, the eighth earl of his line. The other two were crew members.

Only one known survivor came through the six mishaps. Thirty-five were missing. The other crashed planes were in the Belgian Congo, Saudi Arabia, Alaska, Massachusetts and Switzerland.

AFRICA DISASTER

A Sabena airliner which disappeared Thursday over the Belgian Congo with 25 passengers and six crewmen was found wrecked in the African colony. The plane was a DC4 on the Congo-Belgium run. The airline's office in Brussels said nothing was known of casualties.

A U.S. B-29 Superfortress fell in Saudi Arabia, 120 miles northwest of Dhahran. The U.S. Air Force said in Wiesbaden, Germany, that nine bodies had been found. Four persons are missing and one survivor has been found. The plane, apparently crashed Tuesday on a training run between Germany and the Asian airport.

Two U.S. Air Force fighter planes exploded and crashed at Anchorage, Alaska, Thursday. Both pilots were killed. The planes were in a group of four manoeuvring four miles above the city. Both went into almost vertical dives and were blasted in a rending explosion about 8,000 feet up, the wreckage falling into Knik Arm.

Three crewmen of a U.S. army C-54 transport plane were killed Thursday in a crash at Northampton, Mass. The plane burst into flames during a rainstorm, dug a hole eight feet into a soggy field and splattered wreckage over five acres.

Two Swiss fliers were killed practicing emergency landings at Locarno, Switzerland. One was Maj. Piste Hiltz, who helped rescue 12 Americans stranded 9,000 feet up on Aguli Glacier in 1946.

Midget Auto Racing

LONDON (AP) — United States-style midget automobile racing — and Lana Turner — drew a crowd of 50,000 Thursday night to Stamford Bridge football grounds.

It was the first sample of midget racing which is being introduced to this country by a syndicate of which Miss Turner's husband, Bob Topping, is a member.

W. C. Garbutt (left) is returning to Vancouver as manager of Imperial Oil's British Columbia marketing division. He succeeds R. M. Pidgeon (right) who has been manager of the division since 1934. Mr. Garbutt joined Imperial Oil in 1919 as chief clerk in Ontario and after varied experience in the company became chief accountant at Vancouver in 1931. He was appointed district manager and later sales manager and in 1946 moved to Ontario as division manager. Mr. Pidgeon has had extensive marketing experience with Imperial Oil throughout Canada and in 44 years with the company has held many responsible positions. He is taking leave of absence because of ill health and will return to the company in an advisory capacity.

Gromyko Reported To Quit Post Soon

LAKE SUCCESS (CP) — Andrei Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, will leave his United Nations post in July for a vacation in Russia, an informed Soviet source declared Thursday night.

Gromyko will be replaced at the United Nations by Jacob Malik, another deputy foreign minister and former Russian Ambassador to Japan.

Malik is in London en route to New York and is expected here within a few days.

Young People Of United Church To Hold Conference

Rev. David Forsyth, B.A., B.D., general secretary of the Board of Christian Education for the United Church of Canada and Newfoundland, will be special speaker at a Young People's conference to be held in Belmont Avenue United Church Sunday.

Mr. Forsyth is one of the two general council officers attending the British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada here. He is head of all Young People's work, the Sunday school, leadership training, Canadian Girls' in Training, boys' work and camps.

There will be special music and community singing at the meeting. A special film in technicolor, "God of Creation," will also be shown.

Contract Awarded For 2 Big Generators

The B.C. Power Commission has awarded to the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. a contract to supply two 15,000 horsepower generators for the commission's Whistler project.

The contract price, including spare parts and certified factory tests, is $348,535.

Whistler is the second hydro-electric power development undertaken by the commission. It is on the Arrows Lake near Needles and will supply the North Okanagan area.

The development will probably be in production in about two years.

Yet to be awarded is the contract for the supplying of two turbines for the same development. Tenders were called 10 days ago for both generators and turbines.

Bennett To Resign Seat By Monday

W. A. C. Bennett, Coalition member of the 48-seat B.C. Legislature for South Okanagan, will resign his seat in the next few days, it is understood today at the Parliament Buildings.

Mr. Bennett is the Progressive Conservative candidate for the May 31 federal by-election in Yale in which a successor will be named to Hon. Grote Sterling. Next Monday is nomination day and Mr. Bennett, to become a candidate, must resign his seat in the Provincial Legislature before his nomination papers will be valid.

No arrangement has been made for the provincial by-election to name Mr. Bennett's successor.

The 47-year-old Kelowna hardware merchant who has served as president of the Kelowna and Okanagan Boards of Trade has been a member of the Provincial Legislature since the Oct. 25, 1945 general election.

Accompanied by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., member of the House of Commons for Nanaimo, Mr. Bennett has already opened his campaign in Kelowna.

Empire Countries Take Well Over Half B.C. 1947 Exports

More goods exported through British Columbia ports went to the United Kingdom than any other nation of the almost 100 areas with which British Columbia traded in 1947.

A report of the Provincial Bureau of Economics and Statistics today showed that of British Columbia's $389,617,501 export trade for 1947—according to a preliminary report—$149,131,909 went to the United Kingdom. The three dozen units of the British Commonwealth to which the province exported goods during 1947 took well over half the total exports. British Empire countries purchased $209,190,681 of the almost $400,000,000 total exports.

Next to the United Kingdom, however, as a consumer of goods shipped through B.C. ports, was the United States, to which went $81,849,829 worth of goods shipped through B.C. ports.

Other big Empire importers of goods from B.C. ports were, with the value of goods shipped last year: Union of South Africa, $11,104,298; British India, $8,074,355; Hong Kong, $3,585,148; Australia, $16,321,521; New Zealand, $4,132,280; and Palestine, $3,439,177.

Big non-empire importers of goods from B.C. were: Belgium, $10,899,649; China, $17,131,944; France, $11,516,733; Italy, $5,187,604; The Netherlands, $15,993,764; Hawaii, $3,267,349 and the Philippines, $9,517,957.

Almost three-quarters of the imports entering Canada through B.C. ports came from the U.S. The bureau showed that the U.S. supplied $143,223,421 worth of the total of $195,174,683 imports.

The United Kingdom supplied imports valued at nearly one-tenth those sent from the U.S.

6 More Arrests In Cornwall Strike

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Six more arrests were made today in the Cornwall construction strike, bringing to 14 the number of union men arrested in two days. The carpenters went on strike April 20 for higher wages, union recognition and holiday premiums.

The arrests today followed a clash between pickets, non-union workers and police at a construction job. Shortly after the arrests work on the project ended and workers walked off the job amid taunts and jibes from some 300 pickets.

Royal Greetings For Aged Couple

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—On the eve of their 61st wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George Mouldy of nearby Port Coquitlam, Thursday night received a telegram of congratulations from King George and Queen Elizabeth.

The elderly couple were married in Vancouver in 1887 and moved to their present home in 1889. Both said they were "exceedingly proud" to receive the royal greetings.

The British-Israel World Federation (Canada) has appointed next Sunday, Whit Sunday, a day for repentance, prayer and dedication, and special services of this nature will be held in all the principal cities throughout Canada from Victoria to Halifax to mark this important occasion. Miss Janet Lansdowne, manager of the federation's headquarters in Vancouver, will address one of these

Oranges, Grapefruit May Be Short Here

California oranges and Texas grapefruit may be in short supply here next week, city wholesalers said today.

Supplies of navel oranges are just about over and no further shipments are expected. Next shipments will be of the Valencia variety.

Rhubarb prices dropped today as did spinach prices. A $2.50 per case reduction was also recorded on hot-house tomato prices.

Local head lettuce and asparagus are coming on the markets in more plentiful quantities, it was observed. Onions are becoming short. A carload of California cabbage is expected in tomorrow.

The last carload of Prince Edward Island seed potatoes arrived today. They are of the "Green Mountain" variety.

"This is the last call for persons wanting seed potatoes," one wholesaler said.

Rev. Hugh Dobson Soon To Retire

Rev. Hugh Dobson, B.A., D.D., United Church minister and chairman of evangelism and social service for western Canada, announced today his retirement as of June 30, 1949.

The announcement was made at the British Columbia conference of the United Church of Canada. Since Mr. Dobson's family came to Canada generations ago, there have been 60 ministers in

New Potatoes Here

First carload of California new potatoes arrived in Victoria this morning aboard the Ms. Chinook. The potatoes will remain at dockside until Monday when the government embargo on them is lifted.

After Monday, wholesalers say, regular shipments will be brought here under a quota system.

Arabs Formally Declare War On Palestine Jews

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The Arab league's general secretariat proclaimed Thursday night that a state of war exists between the Arab countries and Palestine Jewry.

Syria, in line with this, was declared today to be in a state of emergency.

Parliament was scheduled to meet this afternoon, informants said, to impose martial law and appoint Premier Jamil Mardam Bey military governor.

It also was to lay on press censorship. Parliament Thursday sent back a bill to censor military and political news with instructions for an amendment to exempt political news.

SIGNS LACKING

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan (AP)—If full-scale modern war is coming to Palestine, King Abdullah's little Trans-Jordanian capital betrays no trace of preparation.

Though Britain gives up her Palestine mandate at midnight tonight (5 p.m., C.D.T.), civilian life goes on as usual here in this supposed headquarters of any Arab invasion of the Holy Land.

There have been no air raid drills, curfews nor blackouts, and no mobilization. You can see thousands of men of military age who have not been called to the Arab colors. Except for a gasoline famine, Amman's peacetime economy is undisturbed.

Talk of a possible war is rampant, but to the question whether it really will materialize people shrug and reply, "I wish I knew."

No responsible military quarters here will confirm hopes of thousands of Arab refugees from Palestine that Arab regular armies will launch an offensive immediately against such Jewish bastions as Tel Aviv.

Officers Elected By Recreation Council

Recreation Council of Greater Victoria officers have been elected as follows: President, D. Fletcher; first vice-president, W. Taylor; second vice-president, I. Temple; secretary, Mrs. D. R. Woodhouse; treasurer, A. Jacobs.

Chairman of committees: Sports, D. Fletcher; senior citizens, Mrs. H. Mackenzie; publicity, D. Reeve; youth guidance, R. Holman; playgrounds and playlots, J. Halstead; finance, W. Taylor; constitution, J. Halstead.

Dr. H. Anderson reported that plans for the proposed institute for playground workers would be completed with E. Lee of the Pro Rec department this week. The classes will be held in the latter part of June prior to the opening of the playground season, and will be open to both paid and volunteer workers on the playgrounds.

G. F. Smith reported on the completion of the Ellice Street playlot which has been cleared and equipped by Spencers Remnants, and Dr. Anderson referred to the excellent work done by Mr. Smith himself in giving this playlot its start, and also to the timely help of the Burnside and North Ward P.T.A.'s and to the Eagles Concert Party which provided an excellent entertainment to raise money to pay a supervisor for this summer.

Regular meeting night of the Recreation Council for the year will be the second Wednesday of each month.

Army Appointments Involve B.C. Post

OTTAWA (CP)—A series of major army appointments was announced Thursday by Defence Minister Claxton.

Brig. Howard D. Graham, 49, will step up to acting rank of major-general and become Vice-Chief of the General Staff, effective next October. He will succeed Maj.-Gen. C. C. Mann, whose approaching retirement was announced earlier this year.

Brig. Graham has been the army's senior representative in the United Kingdom for the last two years.

Succeeding Brig. Graham in London will be Brig. E. C. Flow, 43, of Kingston, Ont. Until last January, Brig. Flow was officer commanding headquarters, British Columbia area of Western Command, at Vancouver.

Col. M. Bogert, 40, of Toronto, will be promoted brigadier and take command of the B.C. area headquarters in August, by which time he will have relinquished his present command of the eastern Ontario area headquarters at Kingston.

Brig. T. G. Gibbon, 40, of Toronto, who now commands the New Brunswick area headquarters at Fredericton, will become Deputy Adjutant-General at Ottawa in August. Taking his place in New Brunswick will be Brig. G. E. R. Smith, 47, of Victoria, at present attending the defence college at Kingston.

ALL MUST PULL TOGETHER

PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS SAID THAT his hopes for eventual peace have not been increased by the recent exchange of notes with Russia. Secretary of State Marshall has ruled out the idea of exclusive talks between his country and the Soviet Union on matters of concern to other peoples as well.

There is nothing exciting or surprising in either of the foregoing declarations. The phrasing of both is circumspect. Nothing practical has transpired upon which the President could base a more optimistic statement. Mr. Marshall knows, of course, that if the statements of any of the former allies were to resume their round-table discussions, the presence of representatives of Great Britain and France would be essential.

Apart from the manner in which the report of a confidential chat between U.S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov reached the public, and notwithstanding the mild manifestations of annoyance from Mr. Truman and Mr. Marshall, the discussion which has ensued at least has revealed new concern on the part of the Russian people themselves and the peoples of other lands for what appears at times to be a dangerous drift toward war. And the President of the United States has reiterated his willingness to meet Premier Stalin in Washington any time the latter feels inclined. Surely the political head of the Soviet Union, especially if he has any belief in the success of another conference, would seize the opportunity to travel to Washington, London, or Paris. Or is he afraid that if he were to take a trip "outside" he would promptly discover that all his own and the Politburo's apprehensions about the alleged machinations of the capitalist-monopolistic nations are figments of Communist imagination?

The statesmen of the west are receiving all kinds of advice as to how to deal with Russia without incurring the risk of another blood-bath. It is an interesting and intriguing pastime; but it is painfully slow to produce the desired result. One example is a "Positive Program for Peace" which has reached President Truman from The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Here is an extract from this influential organization's formula:

Our people and government should not feel satisfied with merely military measures but should diligently develop and carry through programs of an economic, social, political and moral character. . . . Our people should press for positive programs which have immediate possibilities for peace and justice. They could, for example, quickly move toward: (a) Greater economic well-being throughout the world; (b) Greater emphasis on increasing social welfare; (c) Greater observance of human rights; to check terrorism; (d) Greater use of processes of international conversation and negotiation.

To all of the foregoing every law-abiding and peace-loving citizen of the world will voice a loud Amen. But what does Russia say about the "Marshall Plan"? She calls this economic program all the nasty names she can think of. And the other points included in the "Positive Program for Peace" are envisioned in the Charter of the United Nations—to which the Soviet Union is a signatory. In other words, when Stalin and Company recognize their obligations and stop distrusting everybody who is not a Communist, the prospect of an enduring peace will become brighter.

CANADA'S 100 BOOKS

INTERESTING AS IS THE SELECTION of Canada's "100 best books," a compilation made at the request of the Arts and Letters Section of Unesco by a committee composed largely of eastern Canadians, its chief virtue may be found in the stimulation of a spirited controversy over the volumes that have been picked. Such a development could emphasize the fact that the Dominion now has a very considerable body of literature and that legitimate argument can be submitted on its merits. As a sample, it might be asked why Bruce Hutchison's "Unknown Country" failed to appeal to the selectors, or, to keep the issue out of regional considerations, why Hugh MacLennan's "Barometer Rising" should enjoy preference over the same author's more recent novel "Two Solitudes."

It is unhappy a fact that many works included in the committee's list are unknown to most Canadians. That is said not in criticism of the books, but in recognition of the unfortunate inclination of our people to ignore the domestic product in favor of that produced elsewhere—an inclination, by the way, which is not now nearly so strong as it was in former years. By the same token, it is doubtful if the average reader in this country, asked for a list of 100 Canadian books, could have named that number.

With that in mind, the selection by the special committee is of particular value. It will help to draw public attention to the nation's product in the field of letters, and, as it stimulates honest difference of opinion on the question of merit, it will encourage the development of critical faculties. Moreover, since the list has been compiled "for the information of people in other countries interested in Canadian literature," it is one which should be scanned with some care by our citizens. This, presumably, is recommended reading from which others will derive impressions of the warp and woof of the Canadian fabric. As such it calls for popular study which will enable our people to commend or condemn intelligently the samples which have been submitted.

KOREAN VOTE

A SMALL MEASURE OF ORDER HAS emerged from the chaos of Korea as a result of the elections held under United Nations sponsorship in the southern zone of that country. Directed by the United States occupying authorities, the balloting was the first of its type in the several-thousand-year-old history of Korea, and it has created through popular choice a 200-member National Assembly which will have the task of setting up a democratic government. Some 7,000,000 voters turned out to the polls despite Communist-inspired sabotage and violence which has caused 500 deaths over the past few months.

The future of Korea, which looked so rosy when the Allies removed the Japanese influence that so long had dominated the country, has now become more clouded than before its "liberation." National elections, which were arranged last year by the United Nations, were made impossible by the Russian occupation officials in the northern zone, when they refused to admit the U.N. commission sent to make the preliminary moves. Since then the Soviets have Communized their area, formed a Communist army, and have thwarted any attempts to unite the country under a democratic regime.

Canada strongly opposed the U.N. decision to hold the elections only in the southern zone after the refusal of Russian co-operation, on the grounds that a partial vote would tend to split the people on a permanent basis. But there appears little indication that the Russians will ever willingly give up their hold on this strategically-located eastern land. The pattern that has become so familiar in other Soviet-dominated countries has been repeated. The much-publicized Soviet desire for peace throughout the world apparently does not include any intention of leaving free peoples to choose their political future in the democratic manner where force and coercion can be used to prevent it.

A MESSAGE AND A PLEA

THE ATTENTION OF VICTORIANS HAS been drawn forcibly to the work of the Salvation Army in its posts throughout the world by General Albert W. T. Orsborn, international chief. In his remarks here yesterday, the distinguished leader emphasized the fact that his organization "intended to fight oppressive forces by the positive development of something better than anti-thetical interests could provide. How the Salvation Army is carrying on its work as a constructive influence in the lives of nations through its attention to their social welfare was amply illustrated by the general's description of work in Germany.

The story the head of this energetic organization told was inspiring. The tenets he laid down for the future and his optimism over the advances that will be made by the young generation were encouraging. To the people of this community, the message was somewhat different from that which is usually associated with the Salvation Army. The picture he painted was on a broader canvas.

Here, however, the work of the Army is clearly understood in its local significance. In Victoria the Red Shield is extended to provide some protection for the unfortunate, "the men and women who have become victims of self or circumstance." Few are unaware of the help given to those in distress, the apparently rejected and those who have few friends to turn to. The assistance rendered maternity home, hospital, old people's home, prison and police court, children's home and hostel services needs little recapitulation here. Nor should it be necessary to emphasize the fact that this work is dependent on public financial support. For Victoria the objective in the current campaign is $20,000. That is little enough to seek in a community to which such service is rendered.

THE WOMEN'S "NO"

IT MAY BE DOING THE WOMEN OF South Africa an injustice, but there is a certain amount of irony in the order in which a news item lists their objections to the "new look." The ladies in the southern dominion are mobilizing to combat the trend in style which makes long skirts, constricted waists and padded hips a necessity for the well-dressed woman. And their complaints are listed as: 1. Too expensive. 2. Injurious to health. 3. Wastes cloth which could clothe the needy in Europe.

The health factor, of course, is one which would vary with the individual woman, depending on how much contortion of her figure was necessary to enable her to fit the fashion. The use of extra cloth, too, is a pertinent point, although it is problematical how much of the material used in milady's new-look costumes would be manufactured or sent to needy Europeans if it were not ordered for the purpose under discussion. But it was a very human trait to list as the Number One objection the fact that the new style costs too much. Could it be that the ladies do not like it because they cannot have it?

Note on imagination: Some people can't bear the idea of using goat milk—until it is made into their favorite cheese.

A Double Defence

By Lindley Fraser From London

IN recent months the nations of western Europe in their dealings with one another have been primarily occupied with economic problems. The work they have done in this field holds out magnificent promise for the future. In response to the Marshall offer of last June they have worked out a method for jointly solving their economic difficulties with American aid, and for maintaining economic co-operation on a long-term basis.

BUT if they are to be prosperous they must also be free and safe from aggression. Economic co-operation is the positive side of healthy international relations. But if it is to yield its results it must rest on military security. Therefore, in the last few weeks, with the wonderfully successful conclusion of the meetings of the sixteen Marshall countries in Paris, attention inevitably turns to the narrower, more negative, but not less vital field of common defence. Here also good progress is being made. The U.S.A. has made it clear that it will back western Europe with all its inexhaustible resources in the case of a major threat from outside. And beyond that, five of the main countries of western Europe—Britain, France and the Benelux group—have begun to discuss their joint military problems on the assumption that if there were to be yet another world war they would act together and not allow themselves to be disposed of one by one.

AT first sight this news, though in one sense encouraging, is yet far from cheerful. Is it really necessary that less than three years after the end of the most destructive war in history the victor countries of the west should be thinking about defence against a yet further possible aggressor?

It is necessary, for a number of different reasons. Germany is at the moment incapable of any further major act of aggression. Even if she were politically united, she is economically helpless and will remain so for many years to come. But it is not to be supposed that the desire for aggression has been for ever killed in the mind of the German nationalist. No long-term plan for European economic revival can be realistic which does not face this straight issue: either Germany must be kept permanently in a state of economic subjection, or else, if she is to be allowed to recover and play her part in European revival as a whole, her past victims must guard against her becoming once again a menace to their security.

THEREFORE, the first object of the present military discussions among western democracies is to dispose, once and for all, of the German threat. It can be said confidently that neither France nor the Benelux countries could ever play their full part in joint economic reconstruction if they were still overshadowed by the fear of invasion by a revived German Reich.

To the people of Britain, however—and still more to the people of America—the main threat is not felt to be Germany but Russia.

THERE is no convincing ground for supposing that the rulers of the Soviet Union want war with the west. They are not ready for it, and its outcome (unless the western world failed hopelessly to live up to its ideals) would not be in doubt. But Russia today is pursuing a policy, perhaps influenced by a mistaken conception of her own defensive needs, which has already led to an economic and ideological "annexation" of half a dozen European countries. If the Kremlin had its way, other European countries, too—Italy and France first—would share the fate of Czechoslovakia and the rest of Europe would in due course follow them into totalitarian slavery. Russian strategy in the first instance pins its hopes on coups from within—on the accession to power of the Communists by ostensibly fair means. This strategy worked all too well in Czechoslovakia. It has not worked in Italy and, thanks to the European Recovery Program, it will not work elsewhere in western Europe. Can we be sure Russia will accept her defeat as final? Is it not possible that when political and ideological methods have failed the Kremlin may resort to arms?

Clearly it is possible—which is not to say that it is certain or even likely. But the military threat is there and can only be met by military means. If the western world is ready to meet any attacks from the east, then not merely can it be certain of being able to repel it should it materialize, it can also have good grounds for hoping that the threat itself will gradually evaporate. The theorists of the Kremlin, we know, are convinced that before long the western world will be overwhelmed by a catastrophic economic collapse. Then, they believe, their chance will come. But if the nations of western Europe prove that prognosis false while remaining firm and calm in the face of Russian threats and provocations, then the Kremlin will have to think again.

THUS, the common defence measures now being concerted in London and Washington against possible aggression are a doubly necessary complement to the joint work of economic reconstruction. They are designed to allay fears of attack which, whether or not justified, are bound to hold up full economic co-operation. And beyond that they are calculated to discourage the potential aggressor from outside—just as economic recovery itself will dissolve the threat of Communism and revolution from within.

The Route Is Clearly Marked

The Olympics Produce Thrills And Spills

By ROBERT BAKER In London Calling

THIS year, in addition to all the usual attractions of our English summer—I am not being ironical, by the way—in addition to Wimbledon, the Derby, and Ascot, Henley, and all the other events that make up our summer season, we shall have the Olympic Games.

TORCH RELAY

At a London Film Club I saw Leni Riefenstahl's film of the Berlin Olympic Games in 1936. One of the most interesting sequences was the torch relay from the ruins of the Temple of Zeus, at Olympia, across Europe to Berlin; a lighted torch was carried the whole way by relays of runners, and finally you saw it carried into the stadium, and the Olympic flame, which burns throughout the games, lighted from it by the proud, final runner. This year, the torch relay will not be run all across Europe; instead, the lighted torch will be shipped from Piraeus, and will come part of the way by boat.

Another interesting sequence was the Marathon race. You probably all know the legend of the run of the Greek soldier from Marathon to Athens to report the defeat of the Persians. I believe there is no historical foundation for the story, but it does give the modern, long-distance running race its name, if not its distance; for from Marathon to Athens is 22 miles and the Olympic games marathon is just over 26.

UNEQUALLED DRAMA

Incidentally, the marathon of 1906 will probably never be equalled for drama. Pietro Dorando, an Italian, became a world hero, as a result of it. For miles he and a South African, Charles Heffron, fought a hard race; two miles from home Heffron took a drink, which did not do him any good, and Dorando took the lead. The Italian himself was practically at his last gasp, and he reeled into the stadium rather than ran; he was so exhausted that he turned the wrong way for the finishing lap. The shouts of the crowd put him right, but, after a few steps in the right direction, he fell. He got up, staggered on, and fell again. By this time, excitement was terrific. Dorando made another effort, got to within 30 yards of the tape, and fell again. Then another runner, an American, appeared in the stadium, and the incident occurred which made the race famous. Some officials, over-anxious for Dorando I suppose, rushed up to him, and half-carried, half-pushed the practically unconscious Italian to the tape.

RECORD ENTRIES

Of course, the race was given to the American, but Queen Alexandra, who was deeply moved by the incident, herself awarded a gold cup to Dorando, who, by the way, still lives in England, at Birmingham.

I hope there are not going to be any records like that in the Olympic Games this year, though one record there is going to be: the entries will, finally, be more than 5,000—the biggest total by a very long way there has ever been.

Culbertson Bid For U.N. Reform

By PETER EDSON from Washington

ELY CULBERTSON, the bridge expert, is about to take a trick in international relations. The main points of his ABC plan for reforming the United Nations Charter are now before Congress in concurrent resolutions introduced by 16 senators and 14 congressmen. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has opened three weeks of hearings to give these resolutions serious consideration.

Everybody laughed when Culbertson showed up at the San Francisco Conference to draft the U.N. Charter three years ago. "There were 2,000 official civilian consultants at San Francisco," says Culbertson. "I was the unofficial consultant."

He had been studying world peace organizations since 1940. He had written a book about it. He said at San Francisco that the Charter adopted wouldn't work. He thinks events since then have proved him right. There were three principal things wrong.

THREE CHANGES

The three things proposed to correct them make up the ABC plan for U.N. reform:

A — Eliminate the Security

Reinstatement

Financial Post

A cub reporter of an English newspaper was reprimanded for going too much into detail. "Keep it brief," ordered the editor. The next day he found the following on his desk:

"Shooting tragedy last night. Lord Hapless, a guest at Lady Wistful's, complained of feeling ill, took a highball, his hat and coat, no notice of anyone, his departure, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and his life. Good chap. Regrets."

Council veto on all matters relating to aggression, armaments or admission to the U.N.

B—Control atomic weapons as proposed by the United States and limit heavy armaments by a Quota Force Plan (QFP) giving the U.S., U.K. and U.S.S.R. each 20 per cent, China and France each 10 per cent, and all others a total of 20 per cent.

C—Establish an effective world police force made up of volunteers from small nations and their heavy arms, backed by reserves of the five major powers.

ORGANIZED GROUP

After San Francisco, Culbertson organized CCUNR—Citizens Committee for United Reform, Inc. Culbertson booked himself with a lecture bureau and went out to the grass roots. People who came out of curiosity to see a bridge expert stayed and became convinced he was no dummy hand at foreign affairs.

In the first year, Culbertson made about 150 talks. Middletown, Ohio, gave him his first good break in June, 1944, at a town meeting attended by 1,800. Culbertson spoke. The meeting then passed the first resolution endorsing the ABC plan.

BACKED BY LEGION

Six months later, the American Legion adopted the plan. Church groups backed it. State federations of labor and women's clubs joined up. Culbertson hit every one of the 48 states in delivering, over the past three years, more than 500 speeches for ABC.

to reform the U.N. would then be premature. Culbertson went back to the grass roots.

Last December, he came back to begin lobbying in earnest. Some congressmen advised him to register as a lobbyist. But he said, "God didn't have a payroll," and it was his own money from bridge book royalties that was supporting CCUNR. It has cost him about $50,000 a year for the past three years.

EXCEEDED HOPES

Culbertson had hoped to get about six senators and eight representatives to back a resolution calling for U.N. reform. He ended up with 16 senators and 14 representatives from both parties. They include Senators Ferguson, Baldwin, Byrd, Flanders and Tobey; Congressmen Judd, Hays, Colmer, Hale, Kefauver, Mundt and Nixon. A score more are willing to back the 30 original sponsors.

The plan does not call for a new conference of nations. It merely directs the President to work for the ABC reforms within the present U.N. If Russia vetoes them, then a new U.N. could be set up across the street, says Culbertson.

Tragic Brief

Winnipeg Free Press

In the reclamation of prisoners it would be impossible to exaggerate the importance of their proper reception by society after their release. If the public see the great possibilities of reformation through wise treatment and modern methods, they are more likely to do their part, by not coldly shunning the former prisoners and by doing everything possible to give them employment and to facilitate their reinstatement in society.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

AS THE JEWS of Palestine move to re-establish the Hebrew state after a lapse of nearly 2,000 years, one frequently hears this query: Just what is the urge behind this unswerving crusade, this willingness to die, for a national home in the Holy Land?

Palestine is small. It isn't blessed with an abundance of natural resources. It is largely undeveloped, and progress must be achieved by sacrifice and sweat of the brow.

Why then this insistence on a national home, and in Palestine? Why was it that when I visited the huge camp for displaced persons at Belsen, Germany, in 1946, crowds of Jewish boys and girls from Poland told me that they didn't want to be sent back home?

"We want to go to Palestine," they chorused.

SPIRITUAL ELEMENT

Well, it strikes me that one of the fundamental reasons for this display of determination is spiritual. In any event my observation leads me to believe that this certainly is true of the orthodox Jew. Palestine has been the spiritual homeland of the Jews for 4,000 years, since the time of the Patriarch Abraham who emigrated from Mesopotamia to Canaan.

Naturally there is no thought that the Jewish citizens from all over the world will flock to Palestine and take up residence there. Still, the little country does provide a refuge for thousands of Jews who have been rendered homeless and set adrift by the Hitlerian aggression which had as one of its horrible objectives the destruction of all Jewish peoples whom the Nazi barbarian could reach.

And these victims of Hitler aren't the only ones who long for new homes. Did you ever visit any of the eastern European cities which have restricted the Jews to the ghettos? I have, and conditions have been terrible. Not only that but often the Jewish quarters have been swept by fierce pogroms, due to racial hatreds.

A REFUGE

So provision of a refuge for the needy is a second reason for the desire to establish a national home. And then there seems to me to be yet another—the pride of seeing a Hebrew government once more functioning in the land of the great kings, Saul and David and Solomon.

Of course, there is another side to the story—the Arab side. The Arabs, who outnumber the Jews in Palestine about two to one and also have their spiritual and nationalistic claims, are dead against a partition of the country and establishment of a separate Jewish state.

MATTER OF PREFERENCE

Windsor Star

Out in California there are some people who would value the "fingerprint" of the big toe of an actress at more than an original copy of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

CLOSER TO HOME

Ottawa Citizen

In giving the margarine issue a thorough airing the Senate is closer to the people than the elective branch of Parliament. The House of Commons had better look to its procedure and standards of debate or people will begin to demand reform of the Commons—instead of the Senate as in the past.

PENSIONS FOR ALL

Toronto Star

In Canada civil servants and professional workers such as teachers and clergymen have been protected by superannuation funds. Old age pensions are becoming one of the bargaining factors in trade union agreements. The great need is for an adequate old age assistance and pension plan operated by the state which will cover all citizens irrespective of their means of livelihood or union membership.

PROVING ITSELF

Ottawa Journal

All the E.R.P. aid in the world will not save freedom in Italy nor bring social and economic justice to Italy if there be not in Italy people willing to create such things for themselves—not any more than American aid has brought freedom or social and economic justice to Greece where, despite labels and professions, there is no democracy, and precious little security.

And what goes for Italy goes for every other land where democracy exists. Democracy must prove, in competition, that it can do more for men than tyranny and revolution.

THE HON. SARDAR HARDIT SINGH MALIK

PLANE WITH THREE TAILS?—Flying in close formation, these three Lockheed P-80 Shooting Stars look like one strange aircraft with three tails. The pilots are training in jet transition at the Williams Air Force Base in Chandler, Ariz., the U.S. Air Force Fighter Pilot School.

Involved in an accident with another car on Douglas Street last Saturday, Albertus B. VanDecar pleaded guilty to dangerous driving in Saanich court yesterday. He was fined $40 and his license was suspended for three months by Magistrate H. C. Hall. The other car involved was sideswiped.

Victoria Officer Designs New Navy Entry Divisional System

These officers are assisted by an efficient staff of warrant officers whose long service and experience in the navy provide further incentive to the operation of this plan. Each division also has its own staff of chief petty officers and petty officers to round out the team.

DAILY COMPETITION
Apart from the daily competition, each officer personally instructs the men in his division, and looks after their welfare. Lt.-Cmdr. MacDonald, who knows a great many of the new entries by name, can learn, in a few seconds, from a divisional officer, if Ordinary Seaman Blank is married... how many children he has... if he has any problems... and what is being done to solve them.

SPIRIT OF COMPETITION
From the day of his arrival, until his new entry courses are completed 12 weeks later, the spirit of competition and friendly rivalry keeps the new Canadian seaman on his toes with the goal always in sight.

The Naden system is unique. The new entries are divided into four divisions, all named after famous Canadian destroyers, Haida, Huron, Iroquois and Sioux, with an additional joining group where the newcomer spends his first two weeks in the navy. Following two weeks familiarization courses on naval methods and manners, the recruit is attached to one of the four divisions where he will stay for the length of his new entry training.

ON POINT SYSTEM
The divisions compete against each other on a point system. In everything they do, from keeping their dormitories clean, to boat pulling and marching on the parade grounds, an impartial judge awards points to the divisions with the smartest day's record. Sports, too, play a big part in the standings, and here again divisional competition makes the game keener, whether its softball, rugby or basketball. When there are from 60 to 80 men in one division, the team spirit rages like a grass fire.

Lt.-Cmdr. MacDonald has a comparatively small staff to keep nearly 400 energetic young men pulling together. Assisted by Lieut. C. H. LaRose, R.C.N., of Montreal, who takes charge of the new entry for his first two weeks in the joining group, there are four divisional officers. Lieut. A. G. Kilpatrick, Victoria (Haida division); Lieut. W. E. Clayards, Victoria (Huron); Lieut. W. G. Hunt, Vancouver (Iroquois), and Lieut. L. R. Carr, Cavan, Ont. (Sioux).

Police Stop Picketing Of Russian Spy Film

TORONTO (CP)—An attempt to picket a theatre showing the motion picture "The Iron Curtain," which deals with the exposure of Russian espionage activities in Canada, was broken up Thursday night by police before the demonstration was well under way.

Police stopped about a dozen young men and women as they prepared to march to the Imperial theatre and took away their signs and pamphlets. Persons in the group identified themselves as members of "The Canadian Committee of World Federation of Democratic Youth."

Langford P.T.A. Gets Certificate For Membership

LANGFORD — Langford Parent-Teacher Association received a certificate for a 12 per cent membership increase over last year at the monthly meeting. The role standing is 134.

Mrs. K. Johansson presided and Miss Joan Eddy acted as secretary. Mrs. N. Bedard, literature convener, showed suitable magazines for pupils to read. Mrs. A. F. Bayles, Mrs. A. Turner and R. Locke were appointed on the queen contest committee.

The question of entering a "queen" float on May 24 is being considered by the P.T.A. Mrs. A. F. Bayles reported $77 was made at the recent candy stall at the Belmont School bazaar.

Scoutmaster Morley reported that 20 cubs were now enrolled and Colin Barwick was assistant cubmaster. Miss Jean Parker's assistance in organizing the pack was greatly appreciated. Twelve cubs and six guides visited Government House for the Governor-General's review Wednesday afternoon. Literature concerning traffic rules have been obtained by the traffic convener, A. E. Morbey.

Nanaimo Students Hold Exhibition

NANAIMO — Hundreds of parents and friends attended a student's exhibition at John Shaw Junior and Senior High School here. Mayor George Muir opened the display.

The display featured exhibits of the school photo club, metal work, clothes modelling and other crafts. A reproduction of a period chair was highly praised. The display was under the supervision of J. B. Litch and H. Martin and J. Parker, along with a committee of 10 school teachers, teachers.

Cowichan Taxpayers Want Duncan To Reconsider Meters

COBBLE HILL — South Cowichan Taxpayers' Association went on record here as against the installation of parking meters in the streets of Duncan. Members felt that rural residents bore the brunt of maintaining the meters for the benefit of the city of Duncan.

Following a lengthy discussion, the meeting went into committee and passed a motion requesting the city of Duncan to reconsider the whole question of parking meters.

C. B. Meredith reported on the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Taxpayers' Association at Nanaimo. G. E. Bonner, chairman of the education committee, explained new amendments to the School Act.

A motion was passed requesting the Provincial government to take the education tax off land, and to obtain revenue for educational purposes by a compulsory tax on individuals, similar to the new hospital tax.

Mount Douglas High Presents Concert

A varied program of songs, dances, music, drama and comedy was presented by students of Mount Douglas High School at a concert given Monday night in St. Luke's Hall.

Songs were featured by the school girls' choir and by Valerie Turnbull and Faith Robinson. Piano solos were presented by Doreen Evans, who played Debussy's "Clair de Lune," and by Beverley Luff, who played "Rustle of Spring." Alan Tregear, violinist, played "Kilvick."

Taking part in a folk dance number were Elaine More, Beverley Luff, Maureen Clement, Marie Maggiora, Patricia Whiting, Bernice Ploss, Irene Campbell, Ruby Atkinson, Vivian Nolley, Donna Browne, Jean Browne and June Drage.

A highlight of the show was the presentation of Act 1 from Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." Featured players were Sylvia Dallen, Dorothy Cornish, Bill Walters, David Williams, Jack Cummer, Jack Emery and Ann Emery.

A one-act play entitled "The Clock" was performed by Beverley Wilms, Betty Yardley and Frances Bartlett.

A skit, entitled "A Tour Through Hollywood Studios," was done by David Williams, Marjorie Noye, Lorraine Stocker, Bryan Reid, Marie Maggiora, Jack Turner, Ray Hanson and Bill Williams.

Winnipeg Lumber Fire Causes Loss of $200,000

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fire enveloped about half the yard of the Winnipeg Lumber Company Thursday before it was brought under control by firefighters from four stations.

The yard, owned by J. Shuckett and H. B. Conner, is in suburban Elmwood. A building was razed and a dwelling next to the property threatened.

Claim Dehydrated Foods Are Better Now Than In War

The men who served overseas and suffered mass-produced meals of dehydrated foods, will be interested to hear there has been some improvement in this form of preserved food.

Approximately 60 officers from army headquarters, including Maj. Gen. Churchill Mann, vice-chief of the general staff, sat down to a unique dinner in Ottawa this week, the guests of an Ontario dehydrated food company.

All courses set before them, with the exception of the meat course, were "dehydrated," but in no way resembled dried foods served troops during the war.

While wartime dehydrated foods had to be soaked for long periods, an official of the company explained to those present, food served at the dinner was merely placed in utensils, water added, and cooked in less time than the garden fresh variety. The army agreed that they had enjoyed the meal and all expressed surprise at the eye appeal, quality and aroma of the food served.

The official explained that dehydrated foods are not new or of recent discovery but date back several hundred years. He said it was only during the past decade that new techniques have so improved quality as to place certain fruits and vegetables on a par with canned and frozen foods.

A $40 fine was handed Andrew G. Wallace in Saanich police court Thursday by Magistrate H. C. Hall when he pleaded guilty to dangerous driving on West Saanich Road on May 8. He struck a telephone pole, breaking it off at the base. As accused needed his car to take treatments at hospital Magistrate Hill did not suspend license, but got a promise from him not to drive for other than this purpose for two months.

19 Drivers Pay $330 In Saanich Court

Nineteen motorists paid a total of $330 in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon for a variety of infractions on highways. Majority were for speeding and driving in a manner dangerous to the public. It was the biggest revenue day the Saanich court has had for a long time.

Government House Dinner
For India's High Commissioner

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks will entertain with a dinner at Government House tonight, to honor Hon. Sardar Hardi Singh Malik, High Commissioner to Canada for the Dominion of India, his wife and his daughter, Miss Harsimran Malik, who arrived in Victoria this afternoon.

Miss Pearl Willows, who has been attending the United Church conference in Victoria this week, is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Jackson, 325 Moss Street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Dunlop and their daughter, Miss Maureen Dunlop, arrived by plane earlier this week from Saskatoon, to spend a holiday with Mrs. Dunlop's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Callan, 827 Linkless Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arkell, who are guests at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel while in Victoria, came from Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Marjorie Gooderham and Mr. Charles Carothers Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Burland left today for Winnipeg where they will attend graduation ceremonies at the University of Manitoba on Saturday, where their son, Mr. George Burland, will receive his degree of medicine.

Mrs. G. F. Amyot will accompany her husband when he leaves for Vancouver Sunday to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Public Health Association of which he is national president. While in Vancouver Dr. and Mrs. Amyot will stay at the Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gooderham of Vancouver are in Victoria to attend the wedding of the former's sister, Miss Marjorie Gooderham, who became the bride of Charles Carothers Carpenter this afternoon. Mrs. John L. Burns also came from Vancouver, and Mrs. Douglas A. Clarke traveled from Winnipeg for the occasion.

Mrs. W. Dalziel and Mrs. J. Barron returned to Victoria yesterday from Vancouver, where they went to bid "au revoir" to their parents, Major and Mrs. Seldon Humphreys, who leave today for Montreal to sail aboard the Empress of Canada for their home in England. Major and Mrs. Humphreys have spent the past few weeks on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., entertained the executive of the Liberal Women's Forum at the tea hour Tuesday at her home, 2019 Runnymede Avenue. Bon voyage presentations were made to Mrs. J. L. Gates, provincial vice-president, and Mrs. R. Morrison, both of whom are leaving shortly for Europe. Invited guests were Mrs. T. C. Smith, president, Mrs. C. Johns, Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. N. Bertucci, Mrs. G. Slater, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. R. Standerwick and Mrs. Brinn.

Sessions Of Grand Temple,
Pythian Sisters, May 19, 20

Thirty-third session of the Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters, jurisdiction of British Columbia, will be held in Victoria next Wednesday and Thursday in the K. of P. Hall, 723 Cormorant Street.

Registration of delegates will take place Tuesday from 4 to 5.30 at headquarters in K. of P. Hall, with sessions commencing at 9 a.m. Wednesday morning. A banquet will be held at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday evening.

Mayor Percy E. George has been invited to bring a welcome from the city to the convention; Frank Sheppard, Imperial Prince of the D.O.K.K., and Grand Chief Drusilla Anders will be guest speakers and R. Toplis, Grand Chancellor of British Columbia the master of ceremonies.

Wednesday evening at 8.30 a display of grill work will be given by members of the Margaret Rose Pythian Sunshine Council, the first council to be instituted in the province, followed by a grand ball in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel.

Sessions on Thursday will be climaxed by the British Columbia finals of the Knights of Pythias public speaking contest. G. O. Hawkins, British Columbia chairman, is in charge of the affair, and there will be five speakers competing. Each will speak for 10 minutes, the subject being "The Debt of the Modern World to Ancient Greece."

Winner of the contest will take part in the regional final and the winner in the regionals will then compete for the grand final for which first prize is $1,000 with other competitors to receive $250 each.

While judges are making their decisions, the Margaret Rose Drill Team will give a display of floor work followed by a Pythian Sister degree staff competition for the Ratcliffe trophy which has been twice won by the staff of May Temple No. 34, Chemainus.

Buckingham Palace
Presentation Party

LONDON (AP) — Guests invited to the big presentation party at Buckingham Palace today—the first since before the war—agreed it was a success.

Nearly 2,500 guests representing many countries mingled in the magnificent state halls of the palace. It was the second party this week for the socially and diplomatically elite.

One major disappointment was the absence of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip. They stayed away because they were getting ready for a trip to Paris tonight.

Princess Margaret was there with her parents, the King and Queen, and so was Queen Mary, who is 81 this year.

P.T.A. News

Mount View — Rev T. H. McAllister installed newly-elected officers of Mount View P.T.A. at the annual meeting of the branch Tuesday in the school library. Dr. J. M. Thomas was named honorary president, and Mrs. H. Sibbald will be president for the coming year. First and second vice-presidents are Mrs. R. Burton and Mrs. G. L. Ford. E. E. Livesey will be secretary and A. G. Hemming was elected treasurer. Conveners included Mrs. A. Doherty, membership; R. A. Freemantle, publicity; Dr. J. M. Thomas and G. L. Ford; program, Mrs. J. M. Thomas, hospitality; Mrs. N. D. Fatt, Mrs. W. Yole and Mrs. L. R. Brown, social. Council delegates are Mrs. R. Burton, Mrs. T. H. Fletcher, Mrs. G. L. Ford and L. R. Brown, with Mrs. A. Doherty as alternate. Annual reports of officers and conveners were heard, and Dr. Thomas and Rev. McAllister congratulated incoming and retiring officers. Mrs. L. R. Brown, retiring president, presided at the meeting.

Lauded By Duchess

"The prettiest girl I've seen in a long, long time." That's what the Duchess of Windsor said about Margaret Marshall—"Miss Canada of 1947," shown here. But she didn't know she was complimenting the Canadian beauty. She was talking about an usherette in New York's Carnegie Hall. Now a student at the Academy of Dramatic Arts in Manhattan, attending under a scholarship presented to her at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City last summer, Margaret has taken an evening job as usherette at the famous old concert hall.

Principal At 'Bon Voyage' Party

MRS. ALLAN DAVIES

Friends gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Davies, 236 Michigan Street, formerly of Prince Rupert, to honor Mrs. Davies, who sails at the end of May aboard the Ss. Aquitania, for a visit in England. During the evening Mrs. Davies was presented with corsage bouquets from Miss Beula Mossman, niece of Mr. Davies, who arrived a few weeks ago from Leicester, England, and from Mrs. Thomas Storrie, an old Prince Rupert friend, now living in the city. Refreshments were served from a table covered with an ecru lace cloth, centred with a "bon voyage" cake-iced in pink, blue and yellow, topped with a small basket of matching flowers and pink and blue candles and flanked with vases of lily of the valley and forget-me-nots. The cake, made by Mrs. L. Cochrane, was a gift from Mrs. Storrie. Others present were Mr. Allan Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Davies Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davies, Mr. Frank Davies and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tredwell.

Engagements

The engagement is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glover, 915 Darwin Road, of their youngest daughter Hughella Edythe, to David Lawrence, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Garmie Schofield, 3134 Mars Street. The wedding will take place at Lake Hill Mission on June 19 at 7.30 p.m.

Personal
Notes

Mrs. W. A. Loveridge, Bralorne, B.C., is a visitor in Victoria and is staying at the Empress Hotel.

Miss Anne Mary Moresby is leaving Sunday evening for Montreal, and will embark from that port for the Old Country, where she will spend a year visiting relatives in Scotland and England.

St. Aidan's Church Scene
Of Quiet Wedding Ceremony

At a 3 o'clock service in St. Aidan's Church this afternoon relatives and close friends gathered to witness the marriage of Marjorie Meritt Gooderham and Charles Carothers Carpenter. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gooderham, Vancouver, formerly of Winnipeg, and the late Harold, Dean Gooderham, and the groom is the elder son of Charles Howland Carpenter, San Marino, California, and the late Mrs. Carpenter.

Rev. T. G. Griffiths read the nuptial service, in a setting of white spring flowers. Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist.

A tailored suit of sea-foam green gabardine was chosen by the bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, John Dean Gooderham of Victoria. With it she wore a yellow silk blouse and Panama straw hat with green veiling to match her suit on the soiled-back balm.

As her only jewelry she wore a green enamel watch on a platinum chain, given to her mother on her wedding day, and she carried a bouquet of white and pastel tulips.

Charles Heisterman stood with the groom as best man.

Mrs. Gooderham wore a suit of midnight blue and cocoa beige straw hat with flower trim.

A small reception was held following the ceremony in the Princess Charlotte Room at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter left by plane for Vancouver, and from there will motor to the Okanagan Valley for their wedding trip.

For traveling, the bride wore a matching topcoat and sable furs, with her wedding ensemble.

They will return in a few weeks to make their home in Victoria.

'Goofies' Made From Shells and Stones

Dodo, penguin, anonymous goofie and Little Lulu on a desert island, are shown on the table at which Mrs. Cowie is painting what will probably turn-out to be a flower-shaped dresser tray.

By MAUREEN STUART-YATES

Take one clam shell, cement two pipe cleaners on it for legs, two halves of a clam shell for a body, a cockle shell for a head, and a limpet shell for a dune cap effect. Then paint on a face and you have a goofie.

The word "goofie" is not in general use, and the definition is a bit obscure, but Mrs. C. L. Cowie, something of an authority on goofies, since she makes quite a few of them, considers all her fantastic shell-birds to be goofies.

Her imaginative creations line shelves in her workshop at 216 Menzies Street. No two are alike, and all quite fascinating in their originality.

One shelf is devoted to the most absurd of goofies, and is ruled by a reproduction of some extinct species, probably a second cousin of the fabulous dodo bird. His wings are clam shells, and his beak is a crab's claw.

A friend of his is possibly a distant relation of the penguin family. He rides along in an oyster shell boat.

"He would probably be very flattered to be called a penguin," says Mrs. Cowie. "That white stone he thinks is an egg. He's been watching over it for years, but nothing ever happens."

SWANS, TOO
Inhabiting the same shelf as the goofies are a family of graceful swans, sailing along on a mirror lake.

"They don't really approve of the goofies," Mrs. Cowie explains. "They're much too dignified and sedate for the other crowd."

And another tableau shows "Little Lulu on a desert island," beneath a palm tree.

Goofies are only one aspect of Mrs. Cowie's unique collection. She also does more conventional work, exquisite shell trays, shell pictures and of course jewelry, like the brooch and earrings she was wearing.

Her recipe for a brooch is "take a few beans, corn kernels, sunflower seeds and shells, paint them and put them all together."

Incredibly enough, they make a very attractive brooch.

It needs the artistic touch, however, in the putting together, and Mrs. Cowie has always loved to make things.

When she first came out from England to Toronto she had a gift shop there.

"I didn't do so much shell work then, but concentrated more on painting. I'm sorry I haven't more time for painting now," she regrets.

SETS BUTTERFLIES

She is entirely self-taught, but considers her work on a butterfly farm in England was very good training for shell work.

"The business of setting butterflies required a very steady hand and a lot of patience," she explained. "I often think of that when I'm cementing the very tiny shells, trying to get them in exactly the right place, and waiting for them to set."

A beautifully colored butterfly with oyster shell wings is evidence of her earlier work.

As well as the gift of the artistic touch, Mrs. Cowie has been endowed with a vivid imagination. As she herself says, "everything I see turns into something else, and I can imagine just what I'm going to make of it."

"For instance," she explained, "a bottle may suddenly look just like a lady with sweeping full skirt I could use as a door stop. I'm always looking for peculiar things."

Hanging on the wall is a vase of "flowers" which she explains came into being when she was just gluing some stones together. "I suddenly thought that the flat one would make a very good vase, and as soon as I painted the others various colors. It made quite a good flower ornament."

Some of her materials she has to send away for, such as the smaller shells, but others she finds on her walks at the beach or almost anywhere she looks.

She is always working on some sort of goofie or piece of jewelry, even though she is not selling as much here as in Toronto. Some day she would like to again open a gift shop here, when the demand for the type of article she makes is greater.

"But in the meantime," she says, "I enjoy the work so much I keep on doing it for the fun of it, anyway."

Dorothy Dix

SOLOMON WANTED

Dear Miss Dix: What is this thing called love? Is it physical attraction? Is it mental attitude? Is it an appreciation for the traits and characteristics of the other person? Can there be a successful marriage without love; that is, if the man is not in love with the woman, or the woman is not in love with the man?

Is it possible to learn to love someone after marriage, even though you are not in love at the time of marriage? Is love the prerogative of extreme youth? Can a man in his early thirties fall in love, as well as one in his early twenties? This love business has been on my mind for some time, and I will greatly appreciate it if you will answer my questions.

TIM.

Answer: Page Solomon, though even he didn't know the answers although he was the greatest sentimental experimentalist in recorded history and certainly hung up a record as a marrying man. But whether he was in love with his numerous wives, or what he felt for them was merely a passing fancy, or whether his love affairs were just Hollywood romances, no one knows. Yet he is supposed to be the wisest man who ever lived.

So if Solomon couldn't find out what love is, it is futile to expect a poor dub of a man or a woman, or a bobby-soxer to know whether what they think is love is the real, genuine, blown-in-the-bottle article, or whether the fluttering in their bosoms is due to the grand passion or indigestion.

MANY MARRIAGES SUCCEEDED

But to answer your other questions, Tim: Yes, there are many successful marriages without love, because many men and women have no sentimental or romantic leanings. There is not a thrill in their systems, but they are capable of having a warm friendship that stands the wear and tear of marriage better than the love-dovey stuff that sends many youths and maidens to the altar.

Also, it is possible to learn to love someone after marriage, even though a Managing Mama or being the boss' daughter had more to do with the wedding than Cupid had. Love begets love, and it is comparatively easy to fall in love with anyone who is crazy about us.

Salvation Army Offers Much For Women, Leader Tells Club

"No organization gives more scope to women than the Salvation Army, but women must be prepared to give something, too, in the way of serving, a sacrificial spirit and a great urge for hard work."

Mrs. General Orsborn, who was born into the Salvation Army and has been 38 years an officer with this organization, concluded her address to the Women's Canadian Clubs, at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, with these words.

The first wife of a Salvation Army general to visit Victoria, Mrs. Orsborn is one of two women members of the Salvation Army Council, the organization's international governing body.

"Wherever you have the Salvation Army you have women working in the interest of other women and children," Mrs. Orsborn said.

She spoke briefly of pioneer women in the organization from the wife of General Booth, who had so much to do with the founding of the army, through to the present.

Today, Mrs. Orsborn said, Salvation Army women are active in missionary work, in social service work and in Germany, working for the relief of the stricken peoples there.

"One of the problems facing Great Britain today is the care of old people," Mrs. Orsborn said, "and the time has come when something has to be done in order to care for these people when they are no longer able to look after themselves. The Salvation Army has 34 homes for old people in Britain," Mrs. Orsborn continued, "which are not institutions but real homes."

CHILDREN'S WORK

Mrs. Orsborn told of the home, the first of its kind, which the Salvation Army has started in England for the care of women who neglect their children. At this institution the women and their children, only children under five years, live for four months and the woman works in the kitchen and nursery, where she learns child care, is shown how to sew and is taught everything in order to lift up the standard of her life and outlook.

She spoke briefly of the work which 13 relief teams, 10 of which are managed by women, are doing to help the people of Germany, and said that no organization has brought about the reunion of so many parents and lost children as the Salvation Army, pointing out that 3,000 children have been brought back to their parents through the army.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson, who was in the chair in the absence of Mrs. K. Drury, thanked the speaker for her interesting address. She announced that the next meeting will be held on Tuesday when the Hon. Sardar Hardit Singh Malik, India's High Commissioner to Canada, will be the speaker. The annual meeting will be held on Friday, June 5, at 2.15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel ballroom. Mrs. Harold Campbell is convener of the nominating committee.

Women Run School To Train Clowns--But Women Barred

CHICAGO (AP)—Laugh while you learn.

That well could be the slogan of Rosalie's School for Clowns.

The school is run by Mrs. Rose Wegner, a plump woman who likes good, clean fun, and her daughter Lenore, a girl with big, dark eyes and a blonde head full of gags.

They hold classes twice a week in the basement of their home. The students put on paint and costumes and really have a circus.

One lad plays an accordion. Another dances with a dummy. A lad in an old mammy get-up takes a bow. A pal fitted with phony arms eight feet long smacks him on the bustle with a rubber hand as big as a catcher's mitt.

It seems odd, in the midst of such goings-on, to hear Mrs. Wegner say:

"Clowning is serious business." She casts a sober glance at a pupil going through a drill. He wails. Tears squirt from his trick spectacles.

"It takes a lot of training," she says. "They can't put on a funny suit and a hat with a duck on it and go out there and wait for folks to laugh. They have to plan acts. They have to learn pantomime. They have to have three months of coaching before they make their first appearance."

She spells out her ideas on what it takes to be a buffoon. They must be tall and agile. They should have talent and a sense of humor. They can't be shy. They can't be too bold. She wants no part of coarse men. They don't go over with kids—and kids rank first with her.

The Wegners—the boys call both of them Rosalie—started the school eight years ago. Rosalie, Sr., had been on the stage. Rosalie, Jr., got the knack of make-up at the Chicago Art Institute. Each has a flair for making odd garments.

If you walk in at the right time, you can see a man-size chicken lay an egg. Or a split personality made up of what seems to be one man and one woman glued back to back. Or a firecracker as big as a bucket that sends up a heavy run-for-your-life smoke signal and then goes off with a punny pip.

All of which may show why there is no hooky problem.

Rosalie, Sr., says she is now working with 30 young men. They work or go to college. The school gets night and week-end clown jobs for the mat carnivals, picnics, dances, parades and church and kid parties.

A few of them want to be full time clowns. Several "grads" have gone into night clubs and the theatre.

Women are barred. Why? Rosalie, Jr., comes up with a quick positive answer: "I don't think girls are funny."

150 AT REUNION HONOR HICKORY-WIELDING EX-TEACHER—It's school days again for "Mack" and 150 of her former pupils. In Hamilton, Ont., 70-year-old former principal Fannie C. MacKenzie, of George L. Armstrong school, walked into her old classroom recently to find these ex-pupils waiting for her, all wearing broad grins. "You haven't changed a bit," said "Mack," wielding her favorite hickory stick.

Price Committee Decides Against Calling Gardiner

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal members of the Commons Prices Committee Thursday disposed of an opposition resolution calling Agriculture Minister Gardiner as a witness by voting that he should not be invited "at the present time."

The motion, which did not reverse the original resolution, was introduced by Ralph Maybank, Lib., Winnipeg South Centre, and supported by seven Liberal members of the committee. Earlier, Dr. Arthur Beauchamp, clerk of the Commons, had reported that Mr. Gardiner should not be subpoenaed, but could be sent a written invitation to appear.

Chairman Paul Martin told Douglas Harkness, P.C., Calgary East, sponsor of the original motion to call the minister, that no written invitation had been sent.

This led to some confusion. The original resolution was re-read to the committee. It said that Mr. Gardiner should be "called." Some Liberal members argued this meant he should be subpoenaed and that the question of inviting him had not arisen. Mr. Maybank suggested the precise wording was unimportant and offered his resolution that nothing be done about calling Mr. Gardiner at present.

Got Rid Of Rubbish In Wrong Place; $5 Fine

If you want to get rid of rubbish, there are lots of ways to do it other than discarding the materials off some lonely road in Saanich.

Frederick Chinn, Langford, was apprehended for doing this, discarding old clothes and other rubbish. Last week he pleaded guilty to the charge and was ordered to pick it up and get rid of it by some other means by Magistrate H. C. Hall. He appeared in Saanich police court yesterday and was fined $5 after the court had learned he had fulfilled the order.

S.A. Welcomes Social Aid Policy Of United Kingdom, Orsborn Says

"Life is still a struggle for many in England," General Albert Orsborn, C.B.E., international leader of the Salvation Army, told 260 persons in attendance at a joint meeting of the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel Thursday.

"At the same time, Britain's babies are as bonny as you can find anywhere."

Reason for this, he continued, is recently-instituted social service legislation of the government. Legislation of this sort had been needed for a long time. It would have come, he said, regardless of what political party held the government majority.

"There never was a time when the British government cared more for the young babies, their mothers and the old people," Gen. Orsborn said.

The Salvation Army is glad of this government concern, and is proud it has helped in the creation of a new social consciousness, the general declared.

He noted with dissatisfaction, however, that the per capita consumption of beer and tobacco was very high in England. Contending he was not a carping critic, he observed a recent survey showed 88 per cent of the British people are practiced gamblers.

Rain, Lack Of Sunshine Retard Growth Of Fruit; Vegetables

Southern Vancouver Island farmers and home vegetable gardeners were warned today by Dr. William Newton, director of the Dominion Experimental Farm, Sidney, against planting tomatoes, cucumbers and other vegetables belonging to the same category, until water conditions improve.

Continuous rain and lack of warm weather had rotted seeds and was responsible for poor germination, he said. Early plants had suffered, and many of them had been nipped by the frost.

"Tomato plants should be kept in the hothouse until the weather returns to normal," he said. "To plant them now is to take a risk."

Meanwhile, farmers were speculating on what effect continuous cool weather and rain would have on this year's crop.

Deep concern was felt by strawberry growers who reported the growth of plants had been retarded by the lack of sunshine and warm weather. Predictions were that the strawberry crop would be light this year as plants were unduly small.

Farmers lost out on their early strawberry crop which was nipped by frost. So far, however, the main strawberry crop is still intact, but growth has been retarded by at least a month.

Because of poor pollination, the cherry crop was expected to suffer heavily due to the lack of warm weather.

Livestock farmers, however, were not complaining about the weather. A record hay crop is expected due to an over-abundance of rain.

Cabbage, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts are also reported doing well under present weather conditions.

Washington Plumbers To Get $2.50 An Hour

TACOMA (AP)—Union plumbers in Washington state, who refused an automatic wage increase of 10 cents an hour last January, have decided it isn't feasible to attempt to "hold the line" any further.

They are going to accept a 16-cent-an-hour wage increase July 1, jumping the hourly wage rate from $2.34 to $2.50, Ray Malone, executive secretary of the Association of Master Plumbers of Washington, announced.

Nail Output Gains

OTTAWA (CP)—Production of wire nails in March totaled 7,100 tons, compared with 5,700 the previous month and 6,500 in March, 1947, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

Production of steel wire fencing amounted to 2,300 tons against 2,000 tons the previous month and 2,300 in March last year.

Many Turned Away From Ceremony

VANCOUVER (CP) — Governor-General Viscount Alexander today held an honorary doctor of laws degree and 1,315 students had been fully "admitted" as graduates of the University of British Columbia.

In graduation ceremonies Thursday, largest in the university's history, Viscount Alexander was awarded the honorary degree by Hon. Eric W. Hamber, chancellor, who also presided at the graduation ceremonies.

Clad in a colorful robe, Viscount Alexander told the students he had missed a university education—the price "we soldiers had to pay for a professional career." He was a soldier for 37 years.

Honorary degrees also were conferred on George M. Weir, former provincial minister of education; A. D. P. Heeney of Ottawa, clerk of the Privy Council; and Dr. Daniel Buchanan, retiring dean of arts and science at U.B.C.

Well before the ceremonies started, the 2,600 seats for a capacity audience were filled and hundreds of relatives and guests were turned away from the university armory. Approximately 300 invited guests trooped into the auditorium across the road and listened to the program over loudspeakers.

Mrs. John Wilcox, who traveled 1,000 miles from Dawson Creek to see her daughter, Edie Alice, graduate, said: "I waited four years for this and I couldn't get in."

The number of invitations issued was nearly double the total available seats.

Alexander's Sword Not Becoming Rusty

VANCOUVER (CP)—The soldier Governor-General has his sword in its scabbard, but it is not becoming rusty.

"My days of active soldiering are behind me—for ever, I hope," he told a group of churchmen, "but we are going through difficult times. My sword now is in its scabbard... but it is not becoming rusty."

Shortly after his arrival from Victoria, Viscount Alexander visited Christ Church Cathedral.

POLAR BEAR CUBS GREET CIVILIZATION—With a look of natural bewilderment, these two Alaskan polar bear cubs take their first peek at "civilization." The gift of Willibald Hoffman to the Milwaukee, Wis., Washington Park Zoo, they've just arrived from the Arctic. Hoffman is shown welcoming the pair.

$66,000,000 Irrigation Dam May Start In 2 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Work on a $66,000,000 irrigation project in Saskatchewan will not be started for at least two years, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons Thursday.

He said the confluence of the South Saskatchewan River and Coteau Creek, about 20 miles north of Saskatoon, had been chosen as the site of a 210-foot dam for the irrigation project. However, it would take engineers at least two years to determine whether it is feasible to build the dam at the chosen site.

The minister made the statements before the house adopted a bill authorizing the appointment of a director and an assistant director of prairie farm rehabilitation.

On passage of the bill, attention was turned to 1948-49 estimates of expenditures for the Agriculture Department.

John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, Sask., and Hazen Argue, C.C.F., Wood Mountain, Sask., expressed dissatisfaction with the delay in starting work on the Saskatchewan dam.

Mr. Diefenbaker said any excuses for delay in completing the south Saskatchewan dam would not be accepted. The sum of $66,000,000 seemed a large amount, but if spent it would pay dividends to all of Canada.

Irrigation would eliminate the need for payments made to western farmers under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act in years of crop failures.

Mr. Argue said the government should go ahead and spend money on irrigation, instead of merely examining the situation year after year.

Earlier, the chamber had voted $107,550,129 to cover government expenditures during the next month.

SUGAR BEET DISCUSSION

Better treatment for Canadian sugar-beet producers was urged by John H. Blackmore, S.C., Lethbridge, Alta.

Speaking during study of that part of the estimates dealing with agriculture he said the growers should be paid the same price as is paid for imported cane sugar.

Mr. Blackmore dealt at length with the value of sugar beets in conserving and improving the soil. Little was being done to conserve soil in Canada, and as a result more and more Canadian farms were being deserted, he said. There were crops that would give satisfactory returns and make the land better than it ever was. Sugar beets were one; they added bacteria to the soil and made it "alive."

If Canada produced sufficient beets to meet her sugar needs, more than 1,000,000 acres of land would be improved yearly, he said. In addition, sugar beets could be produced for export.

There had been such "cunning propaganda" concocted about beet sugar that few people realized Canada was one of the greatest beet-production areas of the world.

If a child's diet lacks certain food elements serious things can happen. Stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth! Faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight!

Ovaltine supplements the diet with food elements frequently deficient in ordinary meals. Three glasses of Ovaltine made with milk provide a significant portion of a child's daily requirement of Vitamins A, B₁, C, D, Riboflavin (B₂) and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron. But Ovaltine is more than just a vitamin and mineral carrier. It also provides basic food substances—complete proteins to help build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against certain food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child can't gain weight, is thin, and nervous, or eats poorly, why not turn to delicious Ovaltine?

15 Guess Fairbanks Break-up To Minute

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The ice broke in the Tanana River Thursday with $150,000 hanging on the minute hand.

Fifteen guesses, from the thousands entered in the annual prediction contest, hit the break-up time squarely on the minute—11:13 a.m.

FAILURE AT DAWSON
 DAWSON, Y.T. (CP)—Citizens of this far north centre today were fed up with mechanical devices.

The Yukon River ice went out Wednesday between 4:45 and 4:55 p.m., but there was a little hitch which cost someone $7,600.

For the second successive year the wire, which trips an electrical timing apparatus, broke and failed to stop the clock—so there was no official time.

The $7,600 pool was made up of $3,600—carried over when the clock failed last year—and $4,000 for this year's break-up contest.

The money will be held and the winner decided when the ice goes out in 1949.

Despite different guesses on the river's break-up, all contestants are unanimous on one point. There will be a more efficient time device next year.

GLASS MAKERS TO THE WORLD

From our factories in England there pours a never-ending stream of glass. We manufacture on a gigantic scale. Our Polished Plate Glass is made in one continuous operation from molten glass to finished product... our Sheet Glass manufacture is a non-stop process producing continuous ribbons eight feet wide. Altogether over 320,000 tons of glass of various kinds leave our factories every year. Fifty miles of railway track, hundreds of railway wagons and a fleet of vehicles are needed to carry the goods. Yet production on this scale is not enough. Plant is now being extended, research accelerated, new and speedier processes devised in order to meet the ever-increasing demand for BRITISH GLASS.

SOME TIME this month first of the group of young football players from Britain will arrive in British Columbia according to Charlie Faulkner, secretary of the Victoria United Coast League club. It is expected the contingent will include five players. According to Faulkner, 35 players have already been screened in the Old Country and at least that number can be expected to reach the province before another season gets under way next fall.

ON THE AUTHORITY of the local official the Victoria team will be given a chance at several of the British players. "Plans call for the players to be split up among the entire Coast League and I am confident the United will get a fair shake in the distribution," Faulkner said. "All the players coming have played junior football or better in Britain, which is concrete proof of their ability. Of course it may take them a little time to adapt themselves to the style of soccer played here, but there is no question they will bolster the Coast League clubs. Every team in the league can be improved on and we are looking for these British youngsters to fill the bill."

FAULKNER also informed me he has been in communication with a young Scottish player and it is possible he will leave for Canada in time to join the United for next season. "This youngster has shown great interest in Victoria and I think there is a good chance of his deciding to come over here. But until plans are more definite I am not going to divulge his name."

JACK HARSHMAN continues to clout International League pitching. Playing for Jersey City, the home-run hitting first baseman of last year's Athletics pounded out successive four-base wallop in games of April 28, 29, 30. His homers accounted for seven runs batted in. Up to that date Harshman's home-run total was four. Jersey City scribe had the following to say about Harshman: "The youngster doesn't swing like a slugger but has great wrist action." Meanwhile at Beaumont former Athletics Bill White and Johnny Hooper are doing right well for themselves in the Texas League. White has been hitting the cover off the ball. Shortstop Johnny Cavalli lost the shortstop position to Roy Peterson last season with Salem. Cavalli was hitting the ball well but made too many errors to stay in the line-up.

Amateur Baseball

Boosters will meet Navy in a senior amateur baseball game at Macdonald Park tonight at 6:30. Charlie Skinner is expected to go to the hill for the Boosters with Dick Barwis likely choice for the sailors.

Gorge Vale Club Finalists

Mrs. R. Fanthorpe, left, medalist, will meet Isabel Jarvis, defending champion, in the 18-hole final of the Gorge Vale women's golf championship Sunday starting at 1. The men's final will take place the same day with Leo Derman opposing W. A. Bird over the 36-hole route. First 18 will start at 9 with the afternoon round starting at 1:30.

Foul Bay In Opening Game Boxla Victory

The lid came off the boxla season at Stevenson Memorial Park last night and the two teams, Foul Bay and James Bay, delegated to open proceedings came through with a thriller that wasn't decided until the final half minute of the game when Vic Sage fired the winning goal with 25 seconds left to give Foul Bay a 10 to 9 triumph.

Sage, playing his first game for the Foul Bay entry after competing last year with Jokers, was the star of the evening. His game winning marker was his third of the night as he sparked the Foul Bay attack.

It couldn't have been a lacrosse game without few tempers coming to the fore and Norm Coates of Bays and Don Thomas of Foul Bay took honors in this department with a brief but spirited display. The fistic participants drew major penalties from new referees Tom McKeachie and Ralph Baker.

There wasn't much to choose between the squads in the inaugural contest as never more than two goals separated the clubs through the entire game.

BAYS LEAD

J.B.A.A.'s Al Horne fired home the first goal of the season and Johnny Bamford made it 2 to 0 before the match was five minutes old. At the 10-minute mark Tom Halbert got Foul Bay's first marker. Sage tied it up two minutes later but Norm Coates slipped one by Thompson in the Foul Bay nets seconds before the end.

Veteran Kittle Stops Athletics Cold

Picks Up 15 Strikeouts As Yakima Winner; A's Strand 13 Base Runners

Hub Kittle, nemesis of the Victoria ball club the last two years, did it again last night. Although he was continually in a jam the smart veteran who is toiling on the mound for the Yakima Packers this season, scraped through to a 7 to 5 victory to move his club into sole possession of fourth place in the Western International League race. Athletics dropped back to fifth on the strength of their second straight loss.

Although Kittle hung up 15 strikeouts the Athletics had no excuse as they passed up chance after chance to go ahead. Hub had plenty of trouble with his control issuing eight walks, but the Victoria club helped him no end by leaving 13 runners stranded on the bases. Four times the Athletics loaded the bases, twice with nobody out, and still could only produce five runs.

In setting a new high for strikeouts at the park this season Kittle played no favorites, all though he sat down Archie Wilson and Sal Recca three times each and Charlie Balassi twice. Bob Koraleski, Frankie Chimele and manager Ted Norbert facing Hub in pinch-hitting roles were all strikeout victims.

TWO HOMERS SEEN

Big Gene Thompson, in the clean-up spot for Yakima, caused the Athletics a lot of trouble. In the third inning he punched out a long triple to deep right field to send one run across and in the fifth clouted one to the same spot for an inside the park home run. It was a close play at the plate and umpire Kotzen's call resulted in strong protests from the Athletics. Larry Ortelt, the previous batter, had lifted the ball over the centre field wall with nobody aboard. A walk and Diamond Ceil's double accounted for a third run in the inning, all after the first two batters had been retired. Third sacker Neil Bryant was also hitting the ball in the clutch with singles in the first and seventh frames each accounting for a run.

Packers were running all night as they picked up five stolen bases. In two nights Victoria catcher Sal Recca has had nine runners pitter second although it must be admitted a number of them were stolen on the pitchers.

Athletics used four pitchers during the long engagement.

Hard-throwing Del Owens opened but was bothered by control trouble during his five-inning stint. Owens was getting behind the batters and then coming in too good as he worked to get the ball over. Owens was charged with the defeat. He was followed by Frank Logue, Al Goot and Dick Walkingshaw. After populating the bags with nobody out, the A's got one run home in the third on an infield out. In the fifth they did it again and managed two runs on infield ground outs. In the eighth, second sacker Monty Pity's bad error on what should have been the third out gave the A's their last two runs. A's had the crowd excited in the ninth when they got two runners aboard with one out, but Balassi and Norbert ended it by swinging at air.

TWO SMART CATCHES

Wilson got a big hand from the crowd on two great catches in centrefield. In the sixth he went up against the fence to make a one-handed spear of Pity's long fly, and in the eighth slid along the grass to grab Peterson's line smash.

Clubs will clash in the second game tonight with Joe Blankenship, going to the hill for Victoria. Garth Ford, with four wins in five starts, is expected to work for Yakima. Tomorrow the teams wind up their series with two games, starting at 2:30 and 8.

For the second night in succession all other games in the league were rained out.

Poat Pitches Giants Into First Position

Ray Poat's spring success takes the heat off New York Giant officials who booted Bill Voiselle to Boston for a sore-armed pitcher, now retired.

The two-hit shutout that Poat threw against St. Louis yesterday, boosted the Giants into the National League lead. Despite Voiselle's four straight victories, the Braves still are in the second division.

Voiselle was sent to Boston last summer for Mort Cooper, but a sore arm prevented Mort from regaining his old form and he finally quit and retired to run his business in St. Louis.

Poat, purchased from Baltimore Orioles of the International League last summer after failing to make the grade with Cleveland, now has won three of four.

A single by Enos Slaughter in the second inning and a double by Red Schoendienst in the third were the only St. Louis hits off Poat in his 5 to 0 win. For five innings it was a scoreless duel between Poat and Red Mungler but the giants got two in the sixth and knocked out Mungler in the eighth.

Voiselle, who underwent an operation for varicose veins during the winter, blanked Chicago with four hits, 2 to 0.

It was a fourth loss for hard luck Johnny Schmitz who also gave up only four hits.

DODGERS WIN
Brooklyn whipped Cincinnati 9 to 3 for the Reds' seventh straight loss. Preacher Roe went the route for his first win at the expense of Ken Raffensberger. Cincinnati didn't get a

VIC BUCCOLA

One-Sided Scores In Minor Baseball

Knights of Pythias romped to a 21 to 0 victory over J. H. and E. in a bantam baseball game last night behind the one-hit pitching of John Carlow. Carlow struck out 15.

In a midget tilt Bottle Exchange clipped Eagles, 13 to 1. Ray Moody also turned in a one-hit job for the winners.

Vic Buccola Deal Closed; Leaves Today To Join A's

Vic Buccola will rejoin the Victoria Athletics. Business manager Reg. Patterson announced today the classy first baseman had been secured by the New York Yankees from Oakland of the Coast League and will leave Los Angeles immediately to join the A's. It is expected Buccola will break into the line-up in the series at Vancouver next week.

A solid favorite with Victoria fans as a member of the 1945 Athletics Buccola is recognized as one of the best leather men in the business. Buccola has been with Oakland all this season, but has made few appearances as a regular.

Acquisition of Buccola just about sets the A's infield for the season. However, the club is still after a power-hitting outfielder and another top notch starting pitcher.

Patterson stated that Paul Jones, present first baseman of the A's, will be sent to another Yankee affiliate but as yet nothing definite has been settled.

Art Kuehl, southpaw pitcher with the A's, has been assigned to Twin Falls of the Pioneer League, a class C club.

Los Angeles Ball Club Shows Little Respect For Hafey

Oakland's $100,000 beauty, Will Hafey, was treated like a dime store trinket last night.

The Los Angeles Angels, unawed by Hafey's recent sale to the Cleveland Indians, jumped on old Chick's nephew for three runs in the sixth, and went on to win, 6 to 5, to remain exactly three games behind San Francisco's flying Seals.

The Seals made it three straight over Hollywood by edging the Stars, 5 to 4, in 11 innings, as relief pitcher Ed Al-bosta plunked pinchhitter Felix Mackiewicz with a fast ball to force home the winning run.

San Diego's hammerin' Jack Graham slapped his 17th homer with one mate aboard to pace the Padres' 3 to 0 victory over Portland. Southpaw Al Olsen flipped a seven-hit shutout.

Sacramento at Seattle again rained out, and a doubleheader is carded tonight.

Annual Rugby Union Meeting Monday

Annual meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union will take place in the Douglas Hotel dining room Monday night at 8, it was announced by secretary Arch Archbold last night.

Election of officers and committees for the season will be the main order of business. Reports will also be received from the retiring executive and last season's committee chairman.

It is proposed to expand the union's activities next season and for this reason a special effort on the part of team officials and others interested in the game of rugby football is requested to attend the session.

VICTORIA CLUB GOLF

Colorful Ezinicki In Debut As Pro Golfer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bill Ezinicki, a wing on Toronto's Stanley Cup championship hockey team, made his debut as a pro golfer in the Philadelphia Inquirer invitational tournament today, but he isn't cutting all his ties with the ice sport.

In making the change, Ezinicki becomes the third athlete in recent years to enter professional golf after establishing a reputation in a different sport.

Before him were Sammy Byrd, one-time New York baseball Yankee outfielder, and Ellsworth Vines, king-pin of amateur tennis.

Byrd and Vines, however, made a complete break from their previous sports. Ezinicki, only 24, hopes to combine the two for a period of years before settling down as a teaching golf pro in his native Canada.

The slight, five-foot-10 athlete would have his first professional round in the record books by now except for an early-morning rain that washed out yesterday's first round. The revised schedule called for 18 holes today, after which the 116-man field will be cut to the low 60, and ties. Eighteen more holes will be played Saturday and 36 Sunday.

TOP AMATEUR

Although this will be Ezinicki's first pro tournament, he has been playing golf since he was nine. He was rated as one of the Dominion's top amateurs.

The young Canadian figures his wood shots are the best part of his game. His lone formal lesson was on putting. He figures he learned more in a single round with Ky Laffoon of Chicago last year than in all his previous links visits.

Not eligible for next week's Professional Golfers' Association tournament at St. Louis, Ezinicki will compete in the $5,000 open in Decatur, Ill., instead. He hopes to qualify for the United States Open in the trials at Denver.

Although he had been considering turning pro for some time, it actually was the Canadian immigration laws that forced him to a decision.

He wanted to make the United States summer golf circuit as an amateur and then try once more for the Canadian title of that division. Canadian officials termed that a pleasure trip and restricted the amount of money he could take south of the border.

By turning pro, his trip became a business venture and the money he would receive would be used to pay his taxes.

Ezinicki will remain on the tour until the St. Paul Open. He'll then return home for a month's rest before joining his hockey mates in mid-September.

Interhigh Track Field Eliminations Listed Next Week

Eliminations for the annual interhigh track and field meet will be held Monday and Tuesday, officials announced today.

Meet will be held at the Victoria High grounds May 21, and this year for the first time girls will enter the meet.

Track eliminations will be held at the Victoria High grounds Monday, starting at 4, with Archie McKinnon and Bruce Humber acting as starters. On Tuesday, juniors will compete in both high and broad jump events, with the points being carried over to the finals.

Complete schedule of eliminations follows:

Hold-up Man Gets Empty Purse From Night Watchman

There is one disgruntled "stick-up" man in Victoria today.

The fruits of his work in holding up William Marshall, 27 years, 2123 Chambers Street, night watchman of the B.C. Courthouse, Bastion Street, in the early hours of this morning amounted to a wallet which was empty of money.

A brown leather single-fold affair, the wallet contained only some personal papers and a number of pictures.

Mr. Marshall was making his rounds of the building just before 2 and was opening the door to the boiler-room at the rear of the building when he encountered the unexpected visitor.

The man stepped up behind him and, pressing something hard against Mr. Marshall's back, ordered the watchman to "stick them up."

Marshall, taking no chances with resistance, complied by raising both arms above his head.

The stick-up man then searched him with one hand, found the wallet in his pocket and took it.

After this, the robber ordered Marshall to go into the boiler-room. He did so and the hold-up man immediately slammed the door. When the watchman got the door open again the man had disappeared.

Three police cars searched the downtown area, but failed to find the culprit.

Marshall was unable to furnish the police with any kind of description as he never once had an opportunity to view the thief.

This was the first robbery of its kind in Victoria since the small store hold-ups in the early part of 1947.

1947 Exports From B.C. Ports Fall Just Short Of $400,000,000

A preliminary report on British Columbia's 1947 trade, made available today by the Provincial Bureau of Economics and Statistics, showed both exports and imports at all time high.

Perhaps because of curtailment of trade during the last month following Canada's austerity program, the exports fell just short of the $400,000,000 total. The preliminary report, made up of information gleaned by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics of exports passing through Canadian customs ports, shows the export total at $389,619,581.

Imports, based on the same information, totaled $195,174,683.

These totals compare with exports of $305,666,102 and imports of $128,395,181 for 1946.

There is no information available at the bureau of economics and statistics on the volume of B.C.'s exports and imports.

These totals do not include British Columbia products exported in 1947 through customs ports in other provinces, neither do they include interprovincial and intraprovincial trade. Because of federal government restrictions gold shipments are also excluded.

The bureau also notes that the statistics do not imply that the imported goods were necessarily destined for consumption in British Columbia, nor do they imply that the exported goods necessarily had their origin in this province.

FOREST EXPORTS LED

British Columbia's great forest industries, responsible for about one-third of the wealth of the province, provided the largest group of export products. The report shows wood, wood products and paper as representing $167,085,595 worth of the total exports.

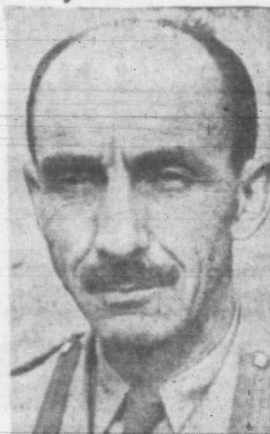

Agricultural products formed the second largest export group but more than half of this item was made up of grains, a great percentage of which had been sent to B.C. ports from the prairies. Of $138,225,177 value of agricultural products shipped, the 48,464,979 bushels of wheat shipped through B.C. ports represented $82,874,955; and 5,738,294 bushels of oats represented $5,491,180. Also shipped were $34,444,282 worth of flour.

British Columbia's fishing industry, ranked fourth in value of production, shipped $27,236,258 worth of products during 1947. The value of non-ferrous metals and their products shipped through B.C. ports last year was $21,256,128, while the value of chemicals and allied products shipped was $21,970,015.

Of the imports the commodity group of iron and its products was the largest in value, representing $56,870,485 of the $195,174,683 total. Food products of the farms were imported through B.C. ports to the value of $39,052,854, while the value of non-metallic minerals imported through B.C. ports was $36,983,662.

The information on the individual imports and exports in numerous places points to the resumption of trade disrupted by the war.

Veterans' Minister In City June 3

Veterans' Minister Milton F. Gregg, V.C., will be in Victoria June 3 to address a meeting of Canadian Legion members in the Britannia Branch auditorium at 8.

Invitation to the minister to speak here was extended by the Canadian Legion Zone Council, through R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria.

The minister's acceptance was received here this morning in a communication to council secretary.

Good Transportation Promised Fernwood

With the removal Sunday of the Fernwood streetcar service, Ald. Harold M. Diggon, city transportation committee chairman, is concentrating on obtaining an improved bus service for residents of the districts affected.

He said today he will ask the City Council to apply to the Public Utilities Commission for permission to re-route Mount Tolmie buses down Begbie Street to Pandora Avenue to serve residents of the east end of the Fernwood district.

The B.C.E.R. favors the plan, he said. At the same time residents of the western sections of the district will be given augmented service on the existing Haultain and Cook Street lines. The Cook Street line is used lightly at the present time, Ald. Diggon stated, but with the removal of the No. 3 streetcar, will be given more business with improved service.

For the southern section of the district there are several bus lines passing Camosun Street and Pandora Avenue with better than 10 minute service, the alderman pointed out.

The northern section will continue to be served by the Haultain buses. "We certainly are not forgetting about the people in the Fernwood district," Ald. Diggon stated. "I can assure them that they will receive better transportation service than they have had before." The alderman made the statement following receipt of a petition from approximately 70 residents protesting the stoppage of the tram service without inauguration of a special bus service along Fernwood Street.

2 Firms Here Outbid In Steel Scow Tenders

Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Ltd., Vancouver, today submitted the lowest tender to the provincial works department for the construction of a steel scow for Twelve Mile Ferry on the Arrow Lakes. The firm, outbidding two Victoria companies, tendered to build the scow for $24,480.

Only other bids were those of Victoria Machinery-Depot Co. Ltd., $25,492, and Yarrows Ltd., $26,500.

Pleads Not Guilty To Breaking Into Five Local Stores

Bernard Bowcott, facing five charges of breaking and entering with theft, was remanded by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today until May 31 for trial.

The youth is accused of breaking and entering into the shops of Adam M. Calhoun, 809 Yates Street, Horace Sims, 1205 Quadra Street, Frank Jefferies, 1011 Government Street, George Eade, 851 Cormorant Street, and Gladwell Motors Ltd., Yates Street.

He pleaded not guilty to the charges today. G. F. Gregory is representing the accused.

India Official Arrives In Victoria For Five-Day Visit

India's High Commissioner to Canada, Hon. Sardar Hardit Singh Malik, arrived in Victoria this afternoon for a five-day visit with provincial and civic officials and members of the Vancouver Island Sikh communities.

Saturday afternoon, local Sikhs will hold a large and colorful parade for Mr. Malik from the Empress Hotel through the city to the Sikh Temple. Mr. Malik will be in the lead car in the parade and will give an address on his arrival at the temple.

During the remainder of his visit, he will attend a service in the temple Sunday and address a Sunday evening banquet at the Empress Hotel. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, he will give further addresses to local organizations.

Yates St. Rezoning Before Commission

Rezoning of Yates Street between Blanshard and Cook Streets will be before next Friday's meeting of the Town Planning Commission.

It was learned today that petitioners who asked the commission in November last year that both sides of that section of Yates Street be rezoned from garage to commercial have amended their request.

T. G. Denny, spokesman for the petitioners, is asking that the property in the block not already occupied by garage classification occupants and including lots purchased from the city in the past for garage purposes be rezoned to the commercial classification.

This means that if any property has been bought for a garage, but no building started, plans to go ahead with the construction in the future would be halted.

The original request that the whole section be rezoned as commercial would halt established garages from doing any alterations to buildings for other than commercial purposes.

Extradition Case To Start Tuesday

Extradition proceedings against Harold Lewis, otherwise known as Harold Finkelstein, wanted by California police on charges of obtaining money under false pretences, will begin next Tuesday.

Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today set the day for the trial after prosecutor Claude Harrison announced that witnesses would be flown from Los Angeles for the extradition case.

Bail was set at $5,000 at the request of defence counsel Pat Sinnott.

$9,505 Subscribed To Cancer Drive

All but $495 of the Conquer Cancer Campaign's $10,000 objective has been collected, campaign auditors announced today. The campaign, which got underway in mid-April, will likely be over the top of its objective by the end of this week.

Money raised by the drive will be used by the B.C. Cancer Foundation to aid in co-ordinating and correlating the efforts of individuals and organized bodies to reduce the mortality from cancer in Canada.

Contributions should be sent to the Conquer Cancer Campaign, Room 226, Pemberton Building.

Full Adoption Of Borstal System Urged By Church

Full support to the provincial government in any of its efforts to modernize provincial penal affairs, was given by delegates attending the British Columbia conference of the United Church here today.

The meeting also expressed the hope that the government would work toward the ultimate adoption of the full Borstal system, which was described as having "achieved outstanding success in Britain."

Rev. Hugh Dobson, speaking on evangelism and social service, said the Lord's Day Act in British Columbia must be maintained. He also stressed the importance of family life.

"The church must give urgent attention to the family," he said, "or it will lose the social unit."

which is the basis of Christian civilization."

One of the most serious problems facing Canadians today was the care of senior citizens, he said. He pointed out there was an increase in the number of pensioners, which was complicating the problem still further.

While the basic responsibility for such projects rested upon the municipal, provincial and federal governments, he said, Christian organizations should take the lead in helping and providing homes for the aged.

The lack of clergymen for the frontier lands of British Columbia, was stressed in an address by Rev. W. P. Bunt.

Believes Religious Revival To Take Place In Europe

An evangelical revival was the one great hope for the integration of Europe's people, Gen.
Albert W. T. Orsborn, international leader of the Salvation
Army, said last night in the First Baptist Church.

Speaking to a large congregation of members of the Salvation Army and friends, Gen. Orsborn predicted a return to religion on an international scale. Despite many obstacles to overcome, he said he felt sure with time a religious revival would take place in Europe.

"In Paris, Nice, Naples and Marseille I had huge audiences who gave strained attention," he said.

Gen. Orsborn spoke on the work of the Salvation Army in England and in South Africa. He described the women of Africa as dignified, quiet and patient, with an art of doing things without a fuss.

While speaking to an audience in Africa, he said, he never saw a woman strike a child or speak to one harshly.

Lady Hartington, Lord Fitzwilliam Killed In Crash

LONDON (AP)—Skyways Ltd. announced today that Kathleen Lady Hartington and Lord Fitzwilliam were killed Thursday night in a plane crash in southern France.

Lady Hartington was the daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, and the widow of the Marquess of Hartington, who was killed in action during the war.

Sir Drummond Inglis, a director of the Skyways firm, which owned the chartered plane, made the official announcement at noon.

He said both members of the plane's crew, Capt. P. A. Townshend and radio officer A. F. Freeman, also died in the crash.

Lord Fitzwilliam, the eighth earl of his line, acceded to his title in 1943. Skyways said earlier he had chartered the plane.

Skyways said Lady Hartington and Lord Fitzwilliam were the only passengers.

Lady Hartington was 28. Her husband was heir of the Duke of Devonshire while he lived.

She met the Marquess in court circles in 1938 while her father was United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James's. They were married at the Chelsea registry office May 6, 1944.

Lord Hartington, a captain of the Coldstream Guards, was killed in action in France, Sept.
10, 1944.

At Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday morning next Lieutenant-Governor Banks will receive the Australian National Flag and the Cross of St. George, and hand them over for consecration by the Bishop and safe-keeping in the cathedral, in recognition of Bishop Sexton's contributions to the Melbourne Church Congress and the Australian Centenary Celebrations, as the representative of the Church of England in Canada.

The handsome flags are made of silk, and are mounted on appropriate standards. Similar flags were presented to the Bishops of Lichfield and Albany, with whom Bishop Sexton was associated during the Australian celebrations, and they, too, will be hung in their respective cathedrals.

Explain Shortcut To Get Into Uniform

Applicants for enlistment in the armed forces can shortcut
the jump from civilian clothes to uniform by producing birth certificates and proof of educational qualifications when they confront the recruiting officer.
An official at National Defence headquarters pointed out today that failure to provide these documents slows up the recruiting process more than any other factor.

It is particularly disappointing to a youngster, after he has perhaps traveled a good many miles to enlist, to be told that he must come back again with proof of age and education. It is just as disappointing to the recruiting officer, but without such proof he can't start the lad off through the recruiting "machine."

The DOCTOR Says:

KIDNEY STONES ARE PAINFUL, MAY LEAD TO COMPLICATIONS

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Those who have "passed" a kidney stone usually say that this is the worst pain they have ever had. Occasionally a stone may "pass" without severe pain, but this is rare.

Most kidney stones are formed in what is called the pelvis of the kidney, that is, the irregular-shaped space inside the kidney which empties into the ureter. Later they pass into the bladder. They may stick in the ureter where they frequently produce terrific pain and bleeding.

Stones may occur at any age but are most common between 25 and 40. They often grow so slowly and cause few, if any, symptoms. Therefore, they may have existed for many years before a diagnosis.

CAUSES UNKNOWN

Causes of stone formation are not entirely known, but a good many explanations have been suggested, including slowed urinary circulation, infection, vitamin deficiency, climate and heredity.

Once an acute attack of pain from kidney stones has developed, it is important to make sure that the stone does not stay permanently lodged in the ureter. If it should stay there, it can produce serious complications.

Location of most stones can be discovered by X-ray, and physicians can generally remove the stones or assist them to pass if that is necessary.

Another important aspect of treatment besides removal of an existing stone is the prevention of additional stone formation. This is often a difficult problem and may involve regulating the acidity of the urine, elimination of infections and the careful choice of diet.

Question—I have been bothered with pinworms. What can be done about this?

Answer—There are several methods of treating pinworms. The substance which has the greatest popularity today is a dye called gentian violet. Others are hexylresorcinol and santolin. Self-treatment is not advisable.

SPORT OF ANGLING IS THOUSANDS OF YEARS OLD

For thousands of years, people have followed the sport of fishing with hook and line. This was done by the ancient Greeks and Romans, also by the Egyptians.

Today there are millions of persons who go out with hook and line. They like to catch a few fish to take home for dinner, but that is only one of the things they enjoy. They find it pleasant to get out on a lake or river, far from crowds. While they wait for a "bite," they have their own thoughts.

When I was a boy, I used to go fishing with a bamboo pole (with-out any reel) and the fish I caught were almost always perch or sunfish. Only once did I have extremely "exciting" fishing. On that day the fish kept biting as fast as I could put worms on my hook. I had anchored my boat over a school of fish! When I had caught about 40 of them, I pulled up the anchor and rowed home.

A person who fishes for sport has the special name of "angler." Some of the poles which anglers use are only five feet long. Certain of the others have a length as great as 15 feet.

The pike is a favorite freshwater game fish. The pickerel is a small pike, and the musky, or muskellunge, is a large pike. These are caught with rod and reel, and they put up quite a struggle before being brought into the boat.

During the present century an interest has grown in capturing deep sea fish with hook and line. Fish of great size have been caught, including tunafish, swordfish and sharks.

Deep-sea fishing has taken place most often in the warmer waters of the Atlantic and Pacific, as off the coasts of Florida and California, and in the South Seas. Yet cold water may provide them as well, a fact which was proved when Zane Grey, widely known author, caught a 758-pound tuna off the coast of Nova Scotia.

Thousands of books have been written about fishing. The first printed book on the subject seems to have been issued in Belgium in the same year Columbus made his first Atlantic voyage.

Attorney Convicted On Narcotics Count

SEATTLE (AP) — A federal court jury Thursday convicted Garfield Barnett, Everett attorney, on two counts of attempting to sell $6,000 worth of narcotics illegally.

The jury deliberated nearly 10 hours before bringing in its verdict against Barnett, who has been prominent in Republican politics in Snohomish County.

Federal Judge John C. Bowen set May 24 as the date for sentencing.

CHILDREN DELIGHT IN VISITING ZOOS NOW THAT SPRING IS HERE—Looking and laughing at the almost continuous performance staged by inhabitants of Riverdale Zoo monkey house in Toronto, these youngsters, all about three years old and all about the same height, are lined up as close as they can get to the cage. Since warmer weather has arrived, the zoo inhabitants spend more time outside, have more room to pace around.

Tyrone Power Plans Spain Tour; Then To Rome To Make Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tyrone Power, Hollywood's globe-trotting star, plans to tour Spain before he reports to Rome for a picture. When Ty flies to Europe next month, he'll have a month or so before "Prince of Foxes" starts shooting in Rome. He wants to buy a car and motor around Spain, one of the remaining countries of the world he hasn't visited. Between picture-making and sightseeing, he doesn't expect to be back in the United States before 1949.

As soon as he finishes "That Wonderful Urge," Ty will leave for Tampa University, where he will deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary degree. He tells me he doesn't yet know the reason for the honor.

GRABLE GOES WEST

Betty Grable is 'gleeful' about doing her first western, "Beautiful Blonde From Bashful Bend," in which she'll play a rifle shot with a knack for shooting the wrong people. The film will start in September, and Betty's film work now is resolved to the pattern of a picture in the spring and another in the fall. That will give her plenty of time to devote to her favorite hobbies—baseball and horses.

Clark Gable and Deborah Kerr will have a potent love story in "Angel's Flight," reports director Sam Wood. "The screen needs better love stories," says Sam. "There are too few powerful stories of the love shared by nature men and women. The public is ready for an adult approach to love." Clark will play a rich American who falls in love with a dying British girl.

DAPPER AS EVER

Warner Baxter, looking dapper as ever, is making "Gentleman From Nowhere." He's coming to limit his career to two brief films a year at Columbia and devote the rest of his time to his other interests. "If I let myself start doing more work, I'd get caught in the old routine and have another nervous breakdown," he says.

Ida Lupino expects to sandwich another picture between "Road House" and her summer marriage... Celeste Holm is heading for San Francisco, where she'll observe the U.N.E.S.C.O. conference. Her career gets a healthy step forward with "Chicken Every Sunday." She'll get star billing.

U.S. Olympic Group Requires $300,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Olympic Committee still needs almost $300,000 to send a full team to the London games this summer, secretary Asa Bushnell reported today.

"Our financial situation as of today is not good," Bushnell said. "We have approximately $220,000 of the $300,000 needed to send all our teams. And the cash in hand or pledged includes almost all our big revenue producers." The bulk of the Olympic finances in this country comes from public subscription.

England Advances In Davis Cup Play

OSLO, Norway (AP) — England's tennis forces joined Holland in the third round of the European zone Davis Cup eliminations Thursday by winning the final two singles matches against Norway. The victories gave the British team a 4 to 1 edge in the five-match series. Norway won one of the opening singles duels.

England's quarterfinal opponent will be Holland, which swept to a 5 to 0 triumph over Portugal.

U.B.C. GOLFERS LOSE

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The University of Portland golf team nosed out University of British Columbia here Thursday, 6½ to 5½, on the East Moreland course. Tom Marlow of Portland led the way with a five-under-par 67.

ROYAL THEATRE

Lana Turner, co-starred with Spencer Tracy in "Cass Timberlane," filmization of the Sinclair Lewis best-seller, which is now at the Royal Theatre, made her first motion picture appearance in "They Won't Forget," following her discovery by director Mervyn LeRoy. The turning point in her career was "Love Finds Andy Hardy," which marked a contract with M-G-M and ultimately led her to stardom.

OAK BAY THEATRE

The movie set of a Paris sidewalk cafe of 1922 used in the Hal Wallis production of Paramount's "The Searching Wind," now at the Oak Bay Theatre, is a copy of a one-time favorite Parisian haunt of director William Dieterle.

When plans for the cafe set were being discussed, the director took a pencil and drew a sketch of his favorite cafe for the art department to duplicate.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Ticking off a thrill every second, Paramount's "The Big Clock," co-starring Ray Milland and Charles Laughton, is showing at the Capitol Theatre.

An entirely new twist to murder, "The Big Clock" tells the suspenseful story of an innocent man forced to lead a manhunt for himself. Knowing that his success means death for him, the hunted hunter desperately schemes to unravel the net he is ordered to set for himself.

RIO THEATRE

The Wolf Man, Count Dracula and the Frankenstein Monster form the horror trio in Universal's current screen shocker, "House of Dracula," now at the Rio Theatre. The three movie demons are portrayed respectively by Lon Chaney, John Carradine and Glenn Strange.

The story, dealing with the eerie experiments of a neurotic scientist, revolves around the weird activities of the fiendish threesome.

ATLAS THEATRE

Producer Jerry Wald studied many old-time song hits before making a final selection of "Too Marvelous for Words" for Warner Bros. "Dark Passage," which is now at the Atlas Theatre. First considered were "My Heart Stood Still" and "I Guess I'll Have to Change My Plan."

Wald selected "As Time Goes By" for revival in "Casablanca" which came back with smashing popularity.

THREE GALS AND GUY—DOING FINE—Proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Zavada, beam with admiration at their four children, quadruplets born to Mrs. Zavada 11 weeks ago. The babies are being kept in the Latrobe, Pa., hospital and are reported healthy and making fine progress. The tots, left to right, are: Johnny, 6 pounds 13 ounces; Bernadette, 5 pounds 15 ounces; Barbara, 6 pounds 2-10 ounces, and Anna Mary, 5 pounds 11 ounces.

YORK THEATRE

A man who gets all his wants satisfied at once in a picture is Pat Noonan, six feet and 260 pounds of ex-soldier, who appears in "Wings of the Morning," Devonshire Films release in technicolor, currently at the York Theatre.

The things Pat Noonan likes most in life are Ireland, horses and film acting—"in that order," he adds. For him, "Wings of the Morning," which stars Annabella, Henry Fonda and Leslie Banks.

French President Decorates Royal British Visitors

PARIS (Reuter) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip today called on Vincent Auriol, President of France, who presented the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor to the Princess and the Croix de Guerre with palm to the Prince.

It was the first ceremony of their five-day visit to Paris—the first visit of the heiress-presumptive to the British throne to a country outside the British Commonwealth. Immediately afterwards they drove to the Arc de Triomphe, where the Princess placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

CHEERED IN STREETS
Tremendous cheers greeted the Royal couple as they drove to the Elysee Palace.

Before President Auriol made the presentation in the Ambassadors' room of the palace, he said: "The people of France are happy to seal by the act I am about to perform the union between our two peoples. I hand over to your gracious Royal Highness the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor."

M. Auriol added: "According to the protocol, I should give you the accolade, but I delegate my powers to your gracious spouse." (The "accolade" in French ceremonial is a kiss on both cheeks for the recipient of an award.)

Then Johannes Eupraz, Secretary of the Navy, read the order of the day giving the citation for the award to Prince Philip.

After the ceremony, the Princess and Prince went to the Arc de Triomphe, again driving through thousands of cheering and flag-waving citizens.

CROWDS GATHER EARLY
The Royal couple arrived from Britain this morning, greeted by cheering Parisians who had begun to gather just after dawn.

A white-gloved guard of honor lined the platform and British and French police inspectors carried out a scrupulous check of the numerous press photographers and reporters as the train pulled in.

An Embassy spokesman said they were in good spirits and had had an excellent channel crossing. Passengers on board the ferry were disappointed because the Princess did not appear for a night stroll on deck.

Prince Philip, hatless but in uniform, went up to the bridge as soon as the royal coach came on board. He steered the ship out of the harbor at midnight under the eye of Capt. John Beach and remained at the wheel for an hour.

Then he had a whisky with the captain before retiring.

New Jet Engine
NEW YORK (AP)—A new jet engine for aircraft rated more powerful than any other produced in the United States was disclosed today by the air force and the General Electric Company.

Says Pact Violated
TOKYO (AP)—Lt. Col. Ben Anderson, Allied headquarters officer, today accused Russia of flouting the agreement to repatriate 50,000 Russian-held Japanese monthly.

Propeller Hits Auto

NEW YORK (AP) — A plane crew and three occupants of an automobile escaped injury Thursday night when a propeller of the plane, coming in for a landing at LaGuardia Field, struck the automobile. The driver of the car said he took a wrong turn and drove on to the runway in front of the plane.

Planes Called Back
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Air Force has called back for possible defence use about 325 transport planes which had been put up for sale as surplus. The planes are the entire remaining supply of the twin-engine C-46 Curtiss Commandos in flying condition.

3 Junkers Held
LONDON (AP) — Three German field marshals are being kept indefinitely in Britain as prisoners of war. They are Walther von Brauchitsch, Gerd von Rundstedt and Erich von Manstein. The War Office said they are held in connection with war crimes inquiries.
